LORD KITCHENER DROWNED AT SEA WHILE ON WAY TO VISIT RUSSIA

GREAT BRITAIN RECEIVES MOST STUNNING BLOW SINCE THE WAR BEGAN WHEN WORD IS RECEIVED THAT THE MAN WHO HAS MADE BRITISH ARMY A FIGHTING FORCE IS VICTIM OF MARATIME DISASTER.

ON BOARD CRUISER HAMPSHIRE

Uncertain Whether Ship Was Sunk by Mine or Torpedo—Flags All Over London Immediately Lowered to Half Mast as Tribute to Memory of England's Greatest Soldier—Hero of Many Wars, Khartum Expedition Being One of the Most Celebrated Exploits.

London, June 6, 10:20 p. m.—The news that Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and his staff, proceeding to Russia aboard the cruiser Hampshire were lost off the Orkney Islands last night was the most stunning blow Great Britain has received since the war began.

This is the second shock the country has sustained within a week. The other was when the newspapers appeared Friday evening with the first intelligence of the naval battle in the North sea in the form of a list of the ships lost, with virtually no intimation that there was any compensation in the way of enemy losses. The bulletin telling of the death of Kitchener gave the country even a greater shock.

Kitchener was the one outstanding personality whom the people believed in as a great man, notwithstanding newspaper attacks which at former periods of the war threatened to undermine his popularity.

A telegram from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander of the fleet, giving the bare facts, was received at the admiralty about 11 o'clock in the morning. The first official announcement was announced at about 1:30 in the afternoon. Such news, however, cannot be kept secret even for an hour. Before noon rumors were spreading and the telephones in the newspaper offices were busy with inquirers anxious to know whether this—one of the many reports circulating in these days of tension—had any foundation. They were told there was nothing in it.

ADMIRALTY REPORT BRIEF.

Admiral Jellicoe's report to the admiralty was as follows:

"I have to report with deep regret that his majesty's ship, Hampshire, Captain Herbert J. Savill, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night at about 8 o'clock to the west of the Orkneys, either by a mine or a torpedo.

"Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was northwest and heavy seas were running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot and a party was sent along the coast to search, but only some bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present. As the whole shore has been searched from the seaward, I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors.

"No report yet has been received from the search party on shore.

"H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

When the announcement finally was issued the fact spread about London somewhat before the newspapers could get into the streets. There was a crowd about the stock exchange which required police reserves to deal with. The police told every one to move on; that there was no truth in the reports.

PEOPLE FIGHT FOR NEWSPAPERS.

At the same time another mass of people was assembling about the government offices in White Hall. All the windows of the offices had curtains lowered which confirmed the rumor beyond doubt. Other crowds gathered around the newspaper offices. When the boys came out with an armful of extras the people fell on them and fought for the papers. In the course of the afternoon the flags on all buildings were flown at half mast.

The English undoubtedly are a stoic people and have taken the good and bad tidings of the war as they came with an absence of emotion to outsiders. But no one could have walked the streets without perceiving that something which the common people took as a calamity had befallen them.

The foreign office was saddened by the loss of one of its most valued members, Hugh James O'Beirne, while Sir Frederick Donaldson and Brigadier General Ellershaw of the ministry of munitions were known to be men whom the nation could little afford to lose.

The fact that the cruiser Hampshire with between 200 and 300 men had sunk generally was accepted simply as an unfortunate detail in these days when a thousand go under almost as incidents of warfare and the Canadians' battle gets a scant column in the newspapers.

THE KING SENDS FOR PREMIER ASQUITH.

The king came from Windsor and sent for Premier Asquith when he heard the news. The war council held a long session. Naturally speculation regarding Kitchener's successor began immediately. Among those discussed were David Lloyd George, Lord Derby and the chief of the imperial staff, Sir Wm. Robertson, but whether a military man or a civilian will take the war office has not yet been decided.

Earl Kitchener met death at a moment which will insure his position in British history. He was almost the only member of the government who, from the beginning, asserted confidently that this would be a long war—his lowest estimate was three years—somewhat before the newspapers could

EARL KITCHENER, BRITISH SECRETARY OF STATE FOR WAR.

Russians' Great Offensive Along Galician Front Is Beginning to Bring Results

Petrograd, Via London, June 6.—The sudden blow struck by the Russians along the entire Galician front of 275 miles from the Pripet to Rumania is in the unanimous opinion of the military critics a beginning of the long waited Russian offensive. The conditions of roads are perfect and with a plentiful supply of ammunition the Russian advance is expected to develop swiftly.

The movement derives significance from the fact that it is not an isolated attack against any one portion of the Austrian lines but a carefully considered movement embracing the whole front. The movement is under the leadership of General Brussiloff, who conducted the brilliant campaign in the Carpathians in 1914. The forces opposing the Russian advance are estimated at 600,000 men.

The initiative belongs entirely to the Russians and the Austrians, evidently taken by surprise, fell back without being able to start a counter offensive.

Aside from its military and strategic importance for this front the Russian movement undoubtedly will have a powerful effect upon the military situation elsewhere, decreasing Austrian pressure on the Italian front and is expected to influence the situation in the Balkans.

From the Pripet river southward to the Rumanian frontier the Russians are continuing to develop successes against the Germans and Austrians. In the fights along this front of some 250 miles the Russians already have made prisoners of 480 officers and more than 25,000 men and captured twenty-five guns and more than fifty machine guns.

Conservatives in Reichstag Oppose Imperial Policy

Berlin, June 5, via London, June 7, 1:30 a. m.—(Delayed)—Masks were dropped in the reichstag today as the imperial chancellor had requested when the spokesman of the conservatives, Count Friedrich von Westarp, plainly avowed the party's opposition to the chancellor's policies. While disclaiming responsibility for the particular anonymous pamphlet which the chancellor had cited, Count von Westarp declared that this and similar outbursts represented a great popular movement which the imperial chancellor has ignored.

Senor Spahn, leader of the center party, Herr von Payer, progressive, and Dr. Gradnauer, socialist, supported the chancellor in his campaign against the "pirate of public opinion."

The policies of the imperial chancellar under fire have to do with the attitude of Germany toward the United States and peace. Dr. Spahn made a notable declaration in which he said:

"The explanations of the imperial chancellor and the minister of foreign affairs, Herr von Jagow, on the Zeppelin and submarine questions, have reassured me. Our relations with America must not be broken on account of the submarine issue."

Count von Westarp declared his uncompromising opposition to President Wilson as a peace mediator. But the chancellor's speech disposed of this subject, he asserting that he had not the slightest official intimation of any projected American intervention.

Dr. Gradnauer announced during the debate and amid general applause that the socialists had decided to vote for the war credits.

Expect Great Time on Palestine Trip

A hitherto uninvaded trade territory will be conquered when the trade trippers journey to Palestine, according to W V. Crawford, chairman of the trade trip committee. He said at the Y. M. B. L. directors' meeting last night that although this would be one of the longest journeys made by the commercial voyagers, no trouble was anticipated in securing a full train of boosters for the trip, as time would be cut short in an endeavor to make the arrival on the return as early as possible. The time of departure will be 6:30 on the morning of June 15.

Upon motion it was decided to extend an invitation to the Katy employes to meet with the Y. M. B. L. next Tuesday night, for a general good time. A letter from the Girls' Economic club of Elm Mott inviting the Y. M. B. L. to attend their carnival on June 16, was acted on by appointing the following committee to represent the organization: James Hays Quarles, C. B. McCollum and W. W. Naman.

De La Rosa Breaks Loose Again

San Antonio, June 6.—General Funston announced late today that he had what appeared to be positive information that Louis de La Rosa was marching from a point south of Laredo in the direction of the border with the evident intention of raiding the country somewhere west of Rio Grande City. There are not now in that district enough American troops to prevent de La Rosa and his men from crossing.

Forest Fires South of Del Rio.

Del Rio, Tex., June 6.—Forest fires are raging in the Santa Rosa mountains, seventy miles west of here, in Mexico, as a result presumably of the recent dry weather and high temperatures. The fire, it is reported, covers an area of forty square miles, and is spreading. The Del Rio section is covered by a dense smoke.

The maximum temperature at Del Rio today was 109 degrees, the highest in five years.

FOUR STATES SWEPT BY HEAVY STORMS: GREAT LOSS OF LIFE

Kansas City, Mo., June 6.—Death lists in the storm-swept sections of Arkansas, Missouri, Mississppi and Illinois grew hourly tonight as belated reports were received from communities which suffered in a series of tornadoes Monday night and early today. Late tonight the deaths of 126 persons had been reported, a number of other persons were unaccounted for and believed dead, and several hundred had been injured, of whom some will die. Accurate estimates of property damage were not available, but all figures ventured by property owners in the stricken communities ran into the hundreds of thousands.

Incomplete tabulations show the following deaths:

Arkansas, 76.
Missouri, 30, possibly more.
Mississippi, 15.
Illinois, 1.
Tennessee, 4, with a score missing in the overturning of the Mississippi river packet Fleonore.

The casualties in Arkansas were reported from every section. Scarcely a county escaped the path of the twisters which traversed the state. Jackson and Vicksburg suffered from the storm in Mississippi. Many of the casualties in Arkansas and Mississippi were negroes. In Missouri the Poplar Bluff section was well nigh devastated. McClure reported the single death in Illinois.

Possibility that the full extent of the storm's death toll has not become known was seen late tonight in word from Conway, Ark., that forty persons had been killed or injured at Cato, near there. Owing to prostrated wires it was impossible to get in communication with the town and the rumored casualties were not included in the list of more than 100 dead.

Roosevelt Declared for General Wood; Denial Issued

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 6.—Colonel Roosevelt is in favor of the nomination of General Leonard Wood as a solution of the situation at Chicago, according to two visitors who called upon the former president today.

They asserted that Colonel Roosevelt had told them that he would "welcome" the nomination of General Wood and that he would "throw his hat in the ring and go out and work for him" "as a candidate who was "thoroughly United States" and whose election "would mean the return of the true spirit of Americanism."

Roosevelt Denies Statement.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 6.—Colonel Roosevelt denied positively tonight that he had telephoned to progressive leaders at Chicago authorizing them to nominate him for the presidency if the republicans nominated Justice Hughes. He said he had nothing whatever to say in regard to the political situation and he declined to comment on the speech of Justice Hughes at Washington last night.

Want 3000 Recruits.

San Antonio, June 6.—Three thousand recruits are wanted at once for the Texas National Guard in the service of the United States. Lieutenant Colonel John S. Hoover is in charge of the recruiting and today squads of officers and enlisted men started out on a tour of the state to establish stations in all of the larger cities and from these to make trips to smaller towns for enlisting recruits for the several branches of the service.

There are forty units which must have approximately seventy men each to bring them to war strength. That will mean 2800 men. Then there are the corps which will need at least 200 more men.

President Yuan Shi Kai Of China Dies in Peking

PRESIDENT YUAN SHI KAI.

Peking, June 6 (noon)—Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, died today. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui immediately advised Li Yuan Hung, the vice president, of his succession to the presidency.

Yuan Shi Kai had been ill for several days with stomach trouble, which was followed by a nervous breakdown.

Quiet prevails today in the capital. The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis.

Li Yuan Heng's succession to the presidency meets the demands of the leaders in the southern provinces.

The opinion was expressed today that the death of Yuan Shi Kai might have an unfortunate effect on political conditions. Negotiations were on the eve of successful completion on the basis of the retirement of Yuan Shi Kai in favor of Lo Yuan Heng and the formation of a coalition cabinet in which the southerners expected to obtain a predominating position. The southerners were to guarantee the safety of Yuan and his monarchist partisans.

YAN'S DEATH BELIEVED UNFORTUNATE.

The death of the president, which under the constitution will result in the succession of Li Yuan Heng, robs the southerners of all grounds of hostility to the north but it also leaves them nothing with which to bargain for power.

Premier Tuan Chi Jui supported by troops may be able to set up a quasi military government in which the southerners, if represented at all, will be in the minority.

Yuan Shi Kai was reported to have been taken seriously ill on May 28. At that time, dispatches from China said it was believed in Peking that the president had been poisoned but this report was denied by the Chinese ambassador at Washington, who insisted that the president was not even ill.

REVOLUTIONS GATHERING STRENGTH.

Yuan Chi Kai died while the storms of revolution were gathering in increasing strength. The revolt broke out in December, 1915, when the president announced his intention of establishing a monarchy and ascending the throne as the first emperor of a new dynasty. His coronation was set for early in February of this year, but was postponed indefinitely, owing to the extraordinary rapidity with which the revolt spread through Southern China. Several attempts were made upon the president's life and a bomb plot was discovered in the imperial palace.

The establishing of a monarchy was strenuously opposed by Japan and the final abandonment of the plan was largely credited to the representations made by Tokio.

The revolt progressed, however, and in March the governors of the Chinese provinces demanded the resignation of the president. In May the provinces of Shangsi and Shantung announced their independence and a provisional government was established by the generals commanding the revolutionary forces in the south.

President Yuan Shi Kai announced on May 26 his intention to resign when a suitable successor was chosen. It was reported a little later that the president intended to take refuge in Japan and a dispatch from Tokio said that he was negotiating for a residence in the Japanese capital.

Rumored Jap Premier Killed.

Tokio, June 7, 10:17 a. m.—The report circulated in the United States yesterday that Count Okuma, the Japanese prime minister, had been assassinated, was without foundation. The secretary of Count Okuma said today that the premier was hale and hearty.

Republican Leaders Now Believe Only Roosevelt Will Satisfy Bull Moose

Chicago, June 6.—The trend of sentiment among the regular republican leaders turned late tonight toward a movement looking to abandonment of overtures to the progressive leaders on the ground that it is now apparent that the latter are not open to any suggestions of compromise which would eliminate Colonel Roosevelt from consideration.

This situation was precipitated by a late conference between Senator Borah and George W. Perkins. The senator was among those who had hoped the two factions could unite on a candidate but when he left Mr. Perkins he said he was now convinced that the republicans would not be able to make a selection that would meet with the approval of the progressive delegates. He thought the time had ended when the program of the republican convention should depend upon the attitude of a third party. At the same time he made it clear that this belief was not influenced by any feeling of resentment or hositility toward supporters of Colonel Roosevelt.

"What we must do now," he said, "is to proceed just as we would have done had there not been a third party. The traditions of our historical party demand it. Harmony is to be desired, but we can not be expected to descend to bartering of our dignity and independence.

BORAH BELIEVES HARMONY WILL COME.

"I believe that ultimately we will have harmony. If we go ahead and name the candidate that our free delegates think is best fitted to carry the burden of the campaign, peace will come. We will make a good platform; one with which no fault can be found by any faction of the party and we will draw to our support many voters who left us four years ago."

Senator Borah is numbered among the leaders willing to accept any republican who can win the nomination as a test of strength displayed in the customary way. He says that at the moment Justice Hughes is leading and present indications point to his nomination. With Hughes as the nominee and with a sanely progressive platform, the senator said he thought progressive republicans would flock to the republican banner. He even thought it possible the progressives might later withdraw their third ticket if they put one in the field, should the attitude of the nominee of the republican party satisfy their demands respecting campaign issues.

PERKINS SAYS OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER.

A few hours after Mr. Borah's remarks on the situation had been made Mr. Perkins emerged from a conference with Senator Lodge, declaring smilingly that the outlook for harmony between the two conventions was brighter.

Simultaneously it was announced that the progressive plan to print full page advertisements throughout the country tomorrow in behalf of Colonel Roosevelt had been abandoned.

Neither Mr. Perkins nor any of the other progressives who were in the conference would discuss details nor say what led to the abandonment of the advertising program.

"On the eve of the two conventions," Mr. Perkins said, "it is my judgment that they were going to start off with friendly relations which augur well for a favorable result."

HUGHES SUPPORTERS CONFIDENT

Favorite Son Campaign Managers Exerting Every Effort to Prevent Votes From Going to Associate Justice on Early Ballots—Little Enthusiasm Is Apparent Except Effervescent Boomers of the Colonel and His Big Stick. Perkins Thinks Indications Point to Chance for Harmony.

Chicago, June 6.—The republican and the progressive national conventions both assemble tomorrow without any indication that the leaders have found the common ground on which they had hoped to establish unity. Three days of almost constant conferences have failed to bring the republicans and the progressives to an agreement on a man for the presidential nomination. A half dozen names, any of which is acceptable to the republicans, have been rejected by the progressives, who have proposed no one but Colonel Roosevelt.

Not since the party was born has there been such a lack of cohesive leadership among the republicans and the oldest convention observers declare they never have seen such a general lack of enthusiasm. There never has been a convention for which so little has been arranged before hand. They plunge into their work tomorrow with practically everything undone which hitherto has been done for them in the inner councils of the leaders.

Hughes leaders, confident the justice will be nominated on an early ballot were lining up their forces tonight, surveying the effect of the drive upon them by the allied "favorite sons," and recruiting unpledged delegates from among the latest arrivals.

Progressive leaders, unwilling to say even if they could, whether Col. Roosevelt would support Hughes, continued to carry on their fight for Roosevelt as their first choice.

NO NOMINATION BEFORE FRIDAY.

The republican managers, pressed by the progressives to hurry their nominations and disclose their candidates if they hope to bid for Colonel Roosevelt's support and prevent a progressive ticket from taking the field, have been given notice that they can expect no nomination in the republican convention before Friday.

The most that can be said about developments of the day is that there has been a general tightening in the various organizations in preparations for the test of strength so near. The supporters of Hughes predicted that his vote would grow rapidly after the preliminary ballot.

If a ballot could be taken tonight the consensus of the several political managers indicated that it would be as follows:

PREDICTION OF OPENING VOTE.

Hughes 261; Weeks 160; Roosevelt 98; Cummins 81; Fairbanks 80; Burton 70; Sherman 58; Knox 51; LaFollette 28; Root 42. Scattering 54. Total 983.

This excludes the two delegates from the District of Columbia, who were unseated by the national committee, but will take their case before the credentials committee.

The allies generally conceded Mr. Hughes was in the lead but this was not allowed to stand in the way of their efforts to hold their forces in hand. Their plan is to prevent an early stampede to the Hughes column in the hope that delay may bring into the situation some new element which would weaken him and promote the prospects of some of the other candidates.

Much speculation has been indulged in with regard to the effect of a positive pronouncement from Mr. Roosevelt. No one counts upon anything from him favorable to Justice Hughes, but the day was characterized by expectation of a declaration contrary to that interest.

ROOSEVELT COULD KILL HUGHES' CHANCES.

Many believe that such an expression would be fatal to Justice Hughes' nomination because they say it would mean certain defeat at the polls. Some, however, advocate his nomination even in the teeth of disapproval by the former president. This element predicts the nomination of the jurist regardless of circumstances.

The progressive leaders are not hiding the fact that they are embarrassed by a lack of control over the delegates, and they fear they cannot delay a nomination till after the republicans have acted.

It developed today that there is a growing disposition to evolve a conservative progressivism as opposed to the extremely radical interests which do everything for conscience's sake and nothing for expedience. The former element, composed largely of active business men, are inclined to continue the efforts to bring about an affiliation with the republicans. The other element demands the acceptance of Colonel Roosevelt as the only basis of compromise. They go so far as to say that even if Mr. Roosevelt should endorse the candidacy of such a man as Justice Hughes, the progressives would proceed with the convention and nominate some other leader, probably Governor Hiram W. Johnson or Gifford Pinchot.

The varying counsels thus indicated have been urged upon the former president by his followers and it is surmised that they have had much influ-

The casualties in Arkansas were reported from every section. Scarcely a county escaped the path of the twisters which traversed the state. Jackson and Vicksburg suffered from the storm in Mississippi. Many of the casualties in Arkansas and Mississippi were negroes. In Missouri the Poplar Bluff section was well nigh devastated. McClure reported the single death in Illinois.

Possibility that the full extent of the storm's death toll has not become known was seen late tonight in word from Conway, Ark., that forty persons had been killed or injured at Cato, near there. Owing to prostrated wires it was impossible to get in communication with the town and the rumored casualties were not included in the list of more than 100 dead.

Roosevelt Declared for General Wood; Denial Issued

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 6.—Colonel Roosevelt is in favor of the nomination of General Leonard Wood as a solution of the situation at Chicago, according to two visitors who called upon the former president today.

They asserted that Colonel Roosevelt had told them that he would "welcome" the nomination of General Wood and that he would "throw his hat in the ring and go out and work for him" as a candidate who was "thoroughly United States" and whose election "would mean the return of the true spirit of Americanism."

Roosevelt Denies Statement.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 6.—Colonel Roosevelt denied positively tonight that he had telephoned to progressive leaders at Chicago authorizing them to nominate him for the presidency if the republicans nominated Justice Hughes. He said he had nothing whatever to say in regard to the political situation and he declined to comment on the speech of Justice Hughes at Washington last night.

Want 3000 Recruits.

San Antonio, June 6.—Three thousand recruits are wanted at once for the Texas National Guard in the service of the United States. Lieutenant Colonel John S. Hoover is in charge of the recruiting and today squads of officers and enlisted men started out on a tour of the state to establish stations in all of the larger cities and from these to make trips to smaller towns for enlisting recruits for the several branches of the service.

There are forty units which must have approximately seventy men each to bring them to war strength. That will mean 2800 men. Then there are the corps which will need at least 200 more men.

President Yuan Shi Kai Of China Dies in Peking

PRESIDENT YUAN SHI KAI.

Peking, June 6 (noon)—Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, died today. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui immediately advised Li Yuan Hung, the vice president, of his succession to the presidency.

Yuan Shi Kai had been ill for several days with stomach trouble, which was followed by a nervous breakdown.

Quiet prevails today in the capital. The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis.

Li Yuan Heng's succession to the presidency meets the demands of the leaders in the southern provinces.

The opinion was expressed today that the death of Yuan Shi Kai might have an unfortunate effect on political conditions. Negotiations were on the eve of successful completion on the basis of the retirement of Yuan Shi Kai in favor of Lo Yuan Heng and the formation of a coalition cabinet in which the southerners expected to obtain a predominating position. The southerners were to guarantee the safety of Yuan and his monarchist partisans.

YAN'S DEATH BELIEVED UNFORTUNATE.

The death of the president, which under the constitution will result in the succession of Li Yuan Heng, robs the southerners of all grounds of hostility to the north but it also leaves them nothing with which to bargain for power.

Premier Tuan Chi Jui supported by troops may be able to set up a quasi military government in which the southerners, if represented at all, will be in the minority.

Yuan Shi Kai was reported to have been taken seriously ill on May 28. At that time, dispatches from China said it was believed in Peking that the president had been poisoned but this report was denied by the Chinese ambassador at Washington, who insisted that the president was not even ill.

REVOLUTIONS GATHERING STRENGTH.

Yuan Chi Kai died while the storms of revolution were gathering in increasing strength. The revolt broke out in December, 1915, when the president announced his intention of establishing a monarchy and ascending the throne as the first emperor of a new dynasty. His coronation was set for early in February of this year, but was postponed indefinitely, owing to the extraordinary rapidity with which the revolt spread through Southern China. Several attempts were made upon the president's life and a bomb plot was discovered in the imperial palace.

The establishing of a monarchy was strenuously opposed by Japan and the final abandonment of the plan was largely credited to the representations made by Tokio.

The revolt progressed, however, and in March the governors of the Chinese provinces demanded the resignation of the president. In May the provinces of Shangsi and Shantung announced their independence and a provisional government was established by the generals commanding the revolutionary forces in the south.

President Yuan Shi Kai announced on May 26 his intention to resign when a suitable successor was chosen. It was reported a little later that the president intended to take refuge in Japan and a dispatch from Tokio said that he was negotiating for a residence in the Japanese capital.

Rumored Jap Premier Killed.

Tokio, June 7, 10:17 a. m.—The report circulated in the United States yesterday that Count Okuma, the Japanese prime minister, had been assassinated, was without foundation. The secretary of Count Okuma said today that the premier was hale and hearty.

Republican Leaders Now Believe Only Roosevelt Will Satisfy Bull Moose

Chicago, June 6.—The trend of sentiment among the regular republican leaders turned late tonight toward a movement looking to abandonment of overtures to the progressive leaders on the ground that it is now apparent that the latter are not open to any suggestions of compromise which would eliminate Colonel Roosevelt from consideration.

This situation was precipitated by a late conference between Senator Borah and George W. Perkins. The senator was among those who had hoped the two factions could unite on a candidate but when he left Mr. Perkins he said he was now convinced that the republicans would not be able to make a selection that would meet with the approval of the progressive delegates. He thought the time had ended when the program of the republican convention should depend upon the attitude of a third party. At the same time he made it clear that this belief was not influenced by any feeling of resentment or hostility toward supporters of Colonel Roosevelt.

"What we must do now," he said, "is to proceed just as we would have done had there not been a third party. The traditions of our historical party demand it. Harmony is to be desired, but we can not be expected to descend to bartering of our dignity and independence.

BORAH BELIEVES HARMONY WILL COME.

"I believe that ultimately we will have harmony. If we go ahead and name the candidate that our free delegates think is best fitted to carry the burden of the campaign, peace will come. We will make a good platform; one with which no fault can be found by any faction of the party and we will draw to our support many voters who left us four years ago."

Senator Borah is numbered among the leaders willing to accept any republican who can win the nomination as a test of strength displayed in the customary way. He says that at the moment Justice Hughes is leading and present indications point to his nomination. With Hughes as the nominee and with a sanely progressive platform, the senator said he thought progressive republicans would flock to the republican banner. He even thought it possible the progressives might later withdraw their third ticket if they put one in the field, should the attitude of the nominee of the republican party satisfy their demands respecting campaign issues.

PERKINS SAYS OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER.

A few hours after Mr. Borah's remarks on the situation had been made Mr. Perkins emerged from a conference with Senator Lodge, declaring smilingly that the outlook for harmony between the two conventions was brighter.

Simultaneously it was announced that the progressive plan to print full page advertisements throughout the country tomorrow in behalf of Colonel Roosevelt had been abandoned.

Neither Mr. Perkins nor any of the other progressives who were in the conference would discuss details nor say what led to the abandonment of the advertising program.

"On the eve of the two conventions," Mr. Perkins said, "it is my judgment that they were going to start off with friendly relations which augur well for a favorable result."

HUGHES SUPPORTERS CONFIDENT

Favorite Son Campaign Managers Exerting Every Effort to Prevent Votes From Going to Associate Justice on Early Ballots—Little Enthusiasm Is Apparent Except Effervescent Boomers of the Colonel and His Big Stick. Perkins Thinks Indications Point to Chance for Harmony.

Chicago, June 6.—The republican and the progressive national conventions both assemble tomorrow without any indication that the leaders have found the common ground on which they had hoped to establish unity. Three days of almost constant conferences have failed to bring the republicans and the progressives to an agreement on a man for the presidential nomination. A half dozen names, any of which is acceptable to the republicans, have been rejected by the progressives, who have proposed no one but Colonel Roosevelt.

Not since the party was born has there been such a lack of cohesive leadership among the republicans and the oldest convention observers declare they never have seen such a general lack of enthusiasm. There never has been a convention for which so little has been arranged before hand. They plunge into their work tomorrow with practically everything undone which hitherto has been done for them in the inner councils of the leaders.

Hughes leaders, confident the justice will be nominated on an early ballot were lining up their forces tonight, surveying the effect of the drive upon them by the allied "favorite sons," and recruiting unpledged delegates from among the latest arrivals.

Progressive leaders, unwilling to say even if they could, whether Col. Roosevelt would support Hughes, continued to carry on their fight for Roosevelt as their first choice.

NO NOMINATION BEFORE FRIDAY.

The republican managers, pressed by the progressives to hurry their nominations and disclose their candidates if they hope to bid for Colonel Roosevelt's support and prevent a progressive ticket from taking the field, have been given notice that they can expect no nomination in the republican convention before Friday.

The most that can be said about developments of the day is that there has been a general tightening in the various organizations in preparations for the test of strength so near. The supporters of Hughes predicted that his vote would grow rapidly after the preliminary ballot.

If a ballot could be taken tonight the consensus of the several political managers indicated that it would be as follows:

PREDICTION OF OPENING VOTE.

Hughes 261; Weeks 160; Roosevelt 98; Cummins 81; Fairbanks 80; Burton 79; Sherman 58; Knox 51; LaFollette 28; Root 42. Scattering 54. Total 983.

This excludes the two delegates from the District of Columbia, who were unseated by the national committee, but will take their case before the credentials committee.

The allies generally conceded Mr. Hughes was in the lead but this was not allowed to stand in the way of their efforts to hold their forces in hand. Their plan is to prevent an early stampede to the Hughes column in the hope that delay may bring into the situation some new element which would weaken him and promote the prospects of some of the other candidates.

Much speculation has been indulged in with regard to the effect of a positive pronouncement from Mr. Roosevelt. No one counts upon anything from him favorable to Justice Hughes, but the day was characterized by expectation of a declaration contrary to that interest.

ROOSEVELT COULD KILL HUGHES' CHANCES.

Many believe that such an expression would be fatal to Justice Hughes' nomination because they say it would mean certain defeat at the polls. Some, however, advocate his nomination even in the teeth of disapproval by the former president. This element predicts the nomination of the jurist regardless of circumstances.

The progressive leaders are not hiding the fact that they are embarrassed by a lack of control over the delegates, and they fear they cannot delay a nomination till after the republicans have acted.

It developed today that there is a growing disposition to evolve a conservative progressivism as opposed to the extremely radical interests which do everything for conscience's sake and nothing for expedience. The former element, composed largely of active business men, are inclined to continue the efforts to bring about an affiliation with the republicans. The other element demands the acceptance of Colonel Roosevelt as the only basis of compromise. They go so far as to say that even if Mr. Roosevelt should endorse the candidacy of such a man as Justice Hughes, the progressives would proceed with the convention and nominate some other leader, probably Governor Hiram W. Johnson or Gifford Pinchot.

The varying counsels thus indicated have been urged upon the former president by his followers and it is surmised that they have had much influ-and he insisted that the government should make its plans accordingly.

LORD KITCHENER DROWNED AT SEA WHILE ON WAY TO VISIT RUSSIAN EMPIRE

The organization of the enormous new British army is well under way. The general staff, under General Sir Wm. Robertson's direction, according to the general belief, has well in hand the task of working out the details which Kitchener's brain largely was instrumental in planning and launching.

NO EVIDENCE AS TO THE CAUSE.

There is no evidence to show whether the Hampshire was torpedoed by a submarine or struck a mine. Many ships have been passing between Russia and Great Britain over the same route since the port of Archangel was opened.

The official news was a greater surprise than it would otherwise have been because no one knew Earl Kitchener had left England.

A memorial service will be held in St. Pauls.

On the stock exchange where business was suspended as the announcement came in, no news since the outbreak of the war caused such bitter feeling against the German members. While most of the members of German birth were expelled some months ago, a few who had sons fighting at the front were allowed to remain. Today the members adopted a resolution asking the committee publicly to expel all the remaining Germans.

Orkneys Off Coast of Scotland.

The Orkney Islands, off which the Hampshire went down, are off the north coast of Scotland. The Hampshire was on her way into the Atlantic and around the northern end of the Scandinavian peninsula into the White sea. Earl Kitchener probably intended to debark at Archangel.

The Hampshire was one of the Devonshire class of six cruisers. She was built in 1903 and normally carried 655 men. She displaced 10,850 tons, was 450 feet long, 68 1-2 feet beam and drew 25 1-2 feet. She was armed with four 7.5-inch, six 6-inch, two 1-pound and twenty 3-pound guns and two torpedo tubes. She cost $4,250,000.

The Hampshire has been in use as a scout boat and for carrying officials on various missions, having ample accommodations for the latter purpose. She was too old to take a place on the fighting line. When the war started she was in the far east and was reported to have been worsted in a fight with Germans in the South China sea. She was one of the British squadron which was sent to this country for the Jamestown exposition in 1907.

REGARDED AS ENGLAND'S GREATEST SOLDIER.

Earl Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war on August 8, 1914, a few days after Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany. He was regarded as England's greatest soldier and the decision of the government to entrust him with supreme direction of the war was received by unanimous approval.

As the war progressed and Great Britain's deficiencies in certain directions, particularly in regard to the shortage of artillery ammunition, became apparent, Earl Kitchener was subjected to severe criticism, led by Lord Northcliffe. The secretary was charged with responsibility for failure to foresee the extraordinary demand for heavy shells and as a result the ministry of munitions was formed, with David Lloyd-George as its head.

Earl Kitchener's responsibilities were further lessened by the appointment of General Sir William Robertson as chief of the imperial staff in December of last year. It was reported at that time that friction had arisen between Earl Kitchener and Field Marshal French, then in command of the British forces in France. Shortly after the appointment of General Robertson, Field Marshal French relinquished his command.

CREATED ARMY FROM UNTRAINED MASS.

Notwithstanding the criticisms directed against Earl Kitchener, his great accomplishments during the war are recognized universally. Foremost of the achievements was the creation from England's untrained manhood of a huge army. At the beginning of the war, Great Britain had only a few hundred thousand trained men. Today more than 5,000,000 men are enrolled for the various branches of the service.

There have been no recent reports of Earl Kitchener's movements. He was last mentioned in the cable dispatches of Friday when he went to Westminster palace and was questioned by members of the house of commons who were not satisfied with the conduct of the war. No intimation was given that he intended to leave England.

LARGEST VOLUNTEER ARMY IN HISTORY.

Of several things that entitle Earl Kitchener to a place in world history, the most notable is that he organized the largest volunteer army the world has ever seen, in the greatest war of all times.

Within a year from the sudden outbreak of the European war in August, 1914, the ranks of British fighting men were quadrupled by an increase from less than one million to nearly 4,000,000.

All other great powers that entered the war had huge standing armies and compulsory military service. Great Britain alone faced the issue with confidence that its people would readily respond to the call of king and country without compulsion, and the precipitous developments that led to the war found both the people and the government unanimous in the verdict that Kitchener of Khartum was the man to lead in the recruiting and organization of the necessary army.

PREDICTED WAR WOULD BE LONG ONE.

He grimly told the British people they had a bigger war on their hands than they realized, and one that might last longer than they expected, but it was to be faced with entire confidence, and he, unsmiling, almost like a dehumanized machine, set about to make things hum. He had scarcely moved into Whitehall street when he made numerous changes in the personnel of the war office, which was said to be honeycombed with social and political favoritism.

After dispatching a few hundred thousand regulars to France and Belgium to help check the onrushing Germans, the war secretary began recruiting and organizing his army of millions. The British Isles were covered with signs and posters urging young men to join the colors. Kitchener went through the country superintending the drilling of the army. From time to time were reports indicating his failure to get the number of men he wanted, but within a year after the war opened Premier Asquith officially announced in parliament that about 3,000,000 men had enlisted in the United Kingdom alone, and almost another million in the overseas dominions.

Kitchener, however, was the object of no little criticism. There was much grumbling because of the strict censonship he imposed on newspapers and his utter disregard for war correspondents. Notwithstanding this, the British newspapers gave him active support prior to May, 1915. During the winter months the war secretary had announced the "big drive" would begin about the first of May. The battle of Neuve Chapelle occurred in May, and England believed this was the beginning of the big drive. Shortly afterward, reports reached England that the drive had halted owing to a shortage of munitions, especially high-explosive shells. A section of the London press then declared that Kitchener had made a serious mistake in providing large quantities of shrapnel and insufficient high-explosives. Newspaper attacks went so far as to suggest his being displaced as war secretary, but the majority of the papers defended him. It was agreed that the raising of a big army and supplying munitions at the same time was too great a task for one man. The discussion developed the formation of a coalition cabinet and the creation of the new portfolio of minister of munitions of which David Lloyd George took charge, while Kitchener remained as war minister.

Without his crowning achievements as the great organizer of the British campaign in the European war, Kitchener had already won wide and lasting fame by his many campaigns in Egypt, South Africa and in India.

BORN IN IRELAND OF ANGLO-FRENCH PARENTS.

He was born June 24, 1850, in County Kerry, Ireland, a fact that gave rise to a general belief that he was of Irish blood, but his parents were of French and English descent. His father was a soldier, but of no very high rank. He had managed to climb to the lieutenant-colonelcy of a dragoon regiment, when he retired to the estates in Ireland where Horatio Herbert Kitchener, the to-be-distinguished son, was born. Young Kitchener received his fundamental education at Woolwich, where he displayed only ordinary brilliancy, with the exception of his liking for mathematics. On graduating he received a commission in the Royal Engineers, but when not yet twenty-one years of age he attached himself to a French army in the Franco-Prussian war. He had been in the service only a short time when he contracted pneumonia during a balloon flight, and had such a prolonged and serious illness that he had to give up further service for France. Kitchener's experience in European warfare—prior to his direction of the great war of 1914—therefore, had been limited to only a few balloon flights in France.

In 1874 when a British expedition was sent out to survey Western Palestine, Kitchener was one of the eager volunteers accepted for this service. For months he traveled over the hills and valleys of this peaceable Bible Land with his theodolite and surveying tape, and with this life in the open he grew to be a tall, gaunt subaltern with a hard face well burned. His contribution to the topographical knowledge of the Holy Land completed, young Kitchener was sent to Cyprus which Great Britain had just acquired, to organize a system of courts, a work in which he displayed administrative ability and tact.

It was while there, in 1882, that he took his first step on the path that was to lead him eventually to Khartum. Trouble was already brewing in the Sudan. Hearing that the Egyptian army was being organized by Sir Evelyn Wood, young Kitchener saw his opportunity with unerring instinct and lost no time in offering his services. The military authorities, recognizing at once his insight into the native character, put him in the intelligence department, and from the very outset of his Egyptian career negotiations of the utmost importance were entrusted to him and carried out with invariable success. As an intelligence officer, Kitchener accompanied Sir Herbert Stewart's desert column on that heroic but disastrous enterprise known as the Gordon Relief Expedition—the relief of General Gordon from Khartum where he had been entangled during the evacuation of the Sudan. Kitchener deeply took to heart the lessons of this fiasco, with its failure of transport and intelligence departments, and avoided these troubles in the expedition which he himself led some years later. In the meantime Kitchener was employed in innumerable fights and raids against the dervishes or Mahdists of Southern Egypt. In 1886 he became governor of the Red Sea territories and set in motion a series of raids on the notorious Osman Digna, the dervish leader. In one of these raids Kitchener's men were flanked and put to flight, during which he received a bullet which broke his jaw.

HONORED BY QUEEN VICTORIA.

By this time much was heard in England of Kitchener's work in Egypt and when he returned there for a short rest he was received with honor and nominated aide-de-camp of Queen Victoria. With his health recruited, he went back to Egypt where, on the resignation of Sir Francis Grenfell, he was appointed Sirdar (commander) of the Egyptian army. His really great career dates from that time.

KHARTUM CAMPAIGN PERFECTLY ORGANIZED.

The Kitchener campaign that ended with the recapture of Khartum was considered by military experts as perfectly organized and faultlessly conducted. The Egyptian army that Kitchener had worked up to such remarkable efficiency was, when he first took charge of it, a band of unpaid, unfed and undermined fellaheen. It was said to be an army "without stomach, heart or backbone," but Kitchener worked over these helpless reeds of broken natives and made them some of the finest of black battalions.

The fight at Omdurman, September 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartum, was the greatest battle of Kitchener's time in Egypt. Osman Digna faced him with 50,000 Mahdists, while he had but 20,000 men. When the battle was over, 11,000 of the Mahdists had been killed outright, 16,000 wounded, and 4,000 taken prisoners, while the English and Egyptian loss altogether was under 500 men.

With the capture of Khartum, capital of the Sudan, which meant the reestablishment of British possession of these upper reaches of the Nile, Kitchener became the object of hero-worship in England. His campaign had been, and is to this day, much criticized, however, because of its ruthlessness. It was charged Kitchener trampled on his foes in an almost barbarous manner. On his return to England, however, he was generous enough to ask his countrymen to found a college at Khartum wherein the sons of the dervish chiefs he had fought and overwhelmed might be educated in the knowledge of the west, a request that met with such response among the British people that the fund required was far over subscribed.

MADE BARON FOR SUDAN TRIUMPH.

For his triumphs in the Sudan he was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchener of Khartum, and received the thanks of parliament and a grant of $150,000. Shortly afterward he was promoted to lieutenant-general and then chief of staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts' return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as commander-in-chief in that field. By constructing a 3,500 mile chain of block houses he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home, and he was rewarded by the title of viscount, promotion to the rank of general for distinguished services, the thanks of the parliament and a grant of $250,000.

Immediately after the peace, General Kitchener went to India as commander-in-chief of the British forces there, and in this position, which he held for seven years, he carried out not only many far-reaching administrative reforms but a complete reorganization and strategical redistribution of the British and native forces. On leaving India in 1909 he was promoted field marshal, and appointed commander-in-chief and high commissioner in the Mediterranean, and later on took a tour of inspection of the forces of the entire empire, drawing up a scheme of defense of the overseas dominions.

VIRTUAL RULER OVER ALL EGYPT.

He then returned to Egypt, the scene of his first triumph, in the capacity of British agent and consul general in Cairo—virtually a governor generalship of Egypt—and let in the economical development of the country, building new roads and irrigation projects on a large scale.

ence in causing him to remain silent.

The uncontrollable quality of the progressive convention lies in the fact that in point of effective numbers it is a third again as large as the republican convention. In some cases the delegates are openly disapproving the dealings of the progressive leaders with the republican managers in their efforts to make peace.

NEITHER LAFOLLETTE OR BURTON SUIT.

It is plain tonight that all the arguments of the progressive leaders to hurry the balloting in the coliseum have failed to change the plans of the republican managers.

The keynote speech at the progressive convention is expected by many to be tantamount to placing Colonel Roosevelt in nomination. Many expect a tremendous demonstration there, threatening to sweep aside all attempt at delay.

In all the negotiations for harmony between the two sides the republican managers consider that their position has been strengthened by the fact that all along they have been ready to present for discussion a list of candidates, any one of whom could command the support of the others. To offset this condition the name of Senator LaFollette was brought forward by the progressives. The republicans immediately rejected it and charged the progressives with insincerity in presenting the name of a candidate they were unwilling to accept themselves. On that point the progressive managers turned the tables and demanded that the republicans bring forward a name. The republicans responded by suggesting former Senator Burton of Ohio. The objection of the progressive managers to Mr. Burton were voiced by Governor Johnson of California.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer veil of facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and harmless. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago. It has been amply demonstrated that common mercolized wax (sold by druggists in ounce packages), entirely removes, by gentle absorption, the withered, lifeless surface skin, showing the youthful, rosetike skin beneath. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin.

A simple and harmless wrinkle-remover which has also proved quite successful can easily be made at home in a jiffy. All one need do is to dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face in the solution once a day for awhile. After the very first application the finer lines disappear and the deeper ones soon follow.

and he insisted that the government should make its plans accordingly.

The organization of the enormous new British army is well under way. The general staff, under General Sir Wm. Robertson's direction, according to the general belief, has well in hand the task of working out the details which Kitchener's brain largely was instrumental in planning and launching.

NO EVIDENCE AS TO THE CAUSE.

There is no evidence to show whether the Hampshire was torpedoed by a submarine or struck a mine. Many ships have been passing between Russia and Great Britain over the same route since the port of Archangel was opened.

The official news was a greater surprise than it would otherwise have been because no one knew Earl Kitchener had left England.

A memorial service will be held in St. Pauls.

On the stock exchange where business was suspended as the announcement came in, no news since the outbreak of the war caused such bitter feeling against the German members. While most of the members of German birth were expelled some months ago, a few who had sons fighting at the front were allowed to remain. Today the members adopted a resolution asking the committee publicly to expel all the remaining Germans.

Orkneys Off Coast of Scotland.

The Orkney islands, off which the Hampshire went down, are off the north coast of Scotland. The Hampshire was on her way into the Atlantic and around the northern end of the Scandinavian peninsula into the White sea. Earl Kitchener probably intended to debark at Archangel.

The Hampshire was one of the Devonshire class of six cruisers. She was built in 1903 and normally carried 655 men. She displaced 10,850 tons, was 450 feet long, 68 1-2 feet beam and drew 25 1-2 feet. She was armed with four 7.5-inch, six 6-inch, two 1-pound and twenty 3-pound guns and two torpedo tubes. She cost $4,250,000.

The Hampshire has been in use as a scout boat and for carrying officials on various missions, having ample accommodations for the latter purpose. She was too old to take a place on the fighting line. When the war started she was in the far east and was reported to have been worsted in a fight with Germans in the South China sea. She was one of the British squadron which was sent to this country for the Jamestown exposition in 1907.

REGARDED AS ENGLAND'S GREATEST SOLDIER.

Earl Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war on August 8, 1914, a few days after Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany. He was regarded as England's greatest soldier and the decision of the government to entrust him with supreme direction of the war was received by unanimous approval.

As the war progressed and Great Britain's deficiencies in certain directions, particularly in regard to the shortage of artillery ammunition, became apparent, Earl Kitchener was subjected to severe criticism, led by Lord Northcliffe. The secretary was charged with responsibility for failure to foresee the extraordinary demand for heavy shells and as a result the ministry of munitions was formed, with David Lloyd-George as its head.

Earl Kitchener's responsibilities were further lessened by the appointment of General Sir William Robertson as chief of the imperial staff in December of last year. It was reported at that time that friction had arisen between Earl Kitchener and Field Marshal French, then in command of the British forces in France. Shortly after the appointment of General Robertson, Field Marshal French relinquished his command.

CREATED ARMY FROM UNTRAINED MASS.

Notwithstanding the criticisms directed against Earl Kitchener, his great accomplishments during the war are recognized universally. Foremost of the achievements was the creation from England's untrained manhood of a huge army. At the beginning of the war, Great Britain had only a few hundred thousand trained men. Today more than 5,000,000 men are enrolled for the various branches of the service.

There have been no recent reports of Earl Kitchener's movements. He was last mentioned in the cable dispatches of Friday when he went to Westminster palace and was questioned by members of the house of commons who were not satisfied with the conduct of the war. No intimation was given that he intended to leave England.

LARGEST VOLUNTEER ARMY IN HISTORY.

Of several things that entitle Earl Kitchener to a place in world history, the most notable is that he organized the largest volunteer army the world has ever seen, in the greatest war of all times.

Within a year from the sudden outbreak of the European war in August, 1914, the ranks of British fighting men were quadrupled by an increase from less than one million to nearly 4,000,000.

All other great powers that entered the war had huge standing armies and compulsory military service. Great Britain alone faced the issue with confidence that its people would readily respond to the call of king and country without compulsion, and the precipitous developments that led to the war found both the people and the government unanimous in the verdict that Kitchener of Khartum was the man to lead in the recruiting and organization of the necessary army.

PREDICTED WAR WOULD BE LONG ONE.

He grimly told the British people they had a bigger war on their hands than they realized, and one that might last longer than they expected, but it was to be faced with entire confidence, and he, unsmiling, almost like a dehumanized machine, set about to make things hum. He had scarcely moved into Whitehall street when he made numerous changes in the personnel of the war office, which was said to be honeycombed with social and political favoritism.

After dispatching a few hundred thousand regulars to France and Belgium to help check the onrushing Germans, the war secretary began recruiting and organizing his army of millions. The British Isles were covered with signs and posters urging young men to join the colors. Kitchener went through the country superintending the drilling of the army. From time to time were reports indicating his failure to get the number of men he wanted, but within a year after the war opened Premier Asquith officially announced in parliament that about 3,000,000 men had enlisted in the United Kingdom alone, and almost another million in the overseas dominions.

Kitchener, however, was the object of no little criticism. There was much grumbling because of the strict censorship he imposed on newspapers and his utter disregard for war correspondents. Notwithstanding this, the British newspapers gave him active support prior to May, 1915. During the winter months the war secretary had announced the "big drive" would begin about the first of May. The battle of Neuve Chapelle occurred in May, and England believed this was the beginning of the big drive. Shortly afterward, reports reached England that the drive had halted owing to a shortage of munitions, especially high-explosive shells. A section of the London press then declared that Kitchener had made a serious mistake in providing large quantities of shrapnel and insufficient high-explosives. Newspaper attacks went so far as to suggest his being displaced as war secretary, but the majority of the papers defended him. It was agreed that the raising of a big army and supplying munitions at the same time was too great a task for one man. The discussion developed the formation of a coalition cabinet and the creation of the new portfolio of minister of munitions of which David Lloyd George took charge, while Kitchener remained as war minister.

Without his crowning achievements as the great organizer of the British campaign in the European war, Kitchener had already won wide and lasting fame by his many campaigns in Egypt, South Africa and in India.

BORN IN IRELAND OF ANGLO-FRENCH PARENTS.

He was born June 24, 1850, in County Kerry, Ireland, a fact that gave rise to a general belief that he was of Irish blood, but his parents were of French and English descent. His father was a soldier, but of no very high rank. He had managed to climb to the lieutenant-colonelcy of a dragoon regiment, when he retired to the estates in Ireland where Horatio Herbert Kitchener, the to-be-distinguished son, was born. Young Kitchener received his fundamental education at Woolwich, where he displayed only ordinary brilliancy, with the exception of his liking for mathematics. On graduating he received a commission in the Royal Engineers, but when not yet twenty-one years of age he attached himself to a French army in the Franco-Prussian war. He had been in the service only a short time when he contracted pneumonia during a balloon flight, and had such a prolonged and serious illness that he had to give up further service for France. Kitchener's experience in European warfare—prior to his direction of the great war of 1914—therefore, had been limited to only a few balloon flights in France.

In 1874 when a British expedition was sent out to survey Western Palestine, Kitchener was one of the eager volunteers accepted for this service. For months he traveled over the hills and valleys of this peaceable Bible Land with his theodolite and surveying tape, and with this life in the open he grew to be a tall, gaunt subaltern with a hard face well burned. His contribution to the topographical knowledge of the Holy Land completed, young Kitchener was sent to Cyprus which Great Britain had just acquired, to organize a system of courts, a work in which he displayed administrative ability and tact.

It was while there, in 1882, that he took his first step on the path that was to lead him eventually to Khartum. Trouble was already brewing in the Sudan. Hearing that the Egyptian army was being organized by Sir Evelyn Wood, young Kitchener saw his opportunity with unerring instinct and lost no time in offering his services. The military authorities, recognizing at once his insight into the native character, put him in the intelligence department, and from the very outset of his Egyptian career negotiations of the utmost importance were entrusted to him and carried out with invariable success. As an intelligence officer, Kitchener accompanied Sir Herbert Stewart's desert column on that heroic but disastrous enterprise known as the Gordon Relief Expedition—the relief of General Gordon from Khartum where he had been entangled during the evacuation of the Sudan. Kitchener deeply took to heart the lessons of this fiasco, with its failure of transport and intelligence departments, and avoided these troubles in the expedition which he himself led some years later. In the meantime Kitchener was employed in innumerable fights and raids against the dervishes or Mahdists of Southern Egypt. In 1886 he became governor of the Red Sea territories and set in motion a series of raids on the notorious Osman Digna, the dervish leader. In one of these raids Kitchener's men were flanked and put to flight, during which he received a bullet which broke his jaw.

HONORED BY QUEEN VICTORIA.

By this time much was heard in England of Kitchener's work in Egypt and when he returned there for a short rest he was received with honor and nominated aide-de-camp of Queen Victoria. With his health recruited, he went back to Egypt where, on the resignation of Sir Francis Grenfell, he was appointed Sirdar (commander) of the Egyptian army. His really great career dates from that time.

KHARTUM CAMPAIGN PERFECTLY ORGANIZED.

The Kitchener campaign that ended with the recapture of Khartum was considered by military experts as perfectly organized and faultlessly conducted. The Egyptian army that Kitchener had worked up to such remarkable efficiency was, when he first took charge of it, a band of unpaid, unfed and undermined fellaheen. It was said to be an army "without stomach, heart or backbone," but Kitchener worked over these helpless reeds of broken natives and made them some of the finest of black battalions.

The fight at Omdurman, September 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartum, was the greatest battle of Kitchener's time in Egypt. Osman Digna faced him with 50,000 Mahdists, while he had but 20,000 men. When the battle was over, 11,000 of the Mahdists had been killed outright, 16,000 wounded, and 4,000 taken prisoners, while the English and Egyptian loss altogether was under 500 men.

With the capture of Khartum, capital of the Sudan, which meant the reestablishment of British possession of these upper reaches of the Nile, Kitchener became the object of hero-worship in England. His campaign had been, and is to this day, much criticized, however, because of its ruthlessness. It was charged Kitchener trampled on his foes in an almost barbarous manner. On his return to England, however, he was generous enough to ask his countrymen to found a college at Khartum wherein the sons of the dervish chiefs he had fought and overwhelmed might be educated in the knowledge of the west, a request that met with such response among the British people that the fund required was far over subscribed.

MADE BARON FOR SUDAN TRIUMPH.

For his triumphs in the Sudan he was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchener of Khartum, and received the thanks of parliament and a grant of $150,000. Shortly afterward he was promoted to lieutenant-general and then chief of staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts' return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as commander-in-chief in that field. By constructing a 3,500 mile chain of block houses he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home, and he was rewarded by the title of viscount, promotion to the rank of general for distinguished services, the thanks of the parliament and a grant of $250,000.

Immediately after the peace, General Kitchener went to India as commander-in-chief of the British forces there, and in this position, which he held for seven years, he carried out not only many far-reaching administrative reforms but a complete reorganization and strategical redistribution of the British and native forces. On leaving India in 1909 he was promoted field marshal, and appointed commander-in-chief and high commissioner in the Mediterranean, and later on took a tour of inspection of the forces of the entire empire, drawing up a scheme of defense of the overseas dominions.

VIRTUAL RULER OVER ALL EGYPT.

He then returned to Egypt, the scene of his first triumph, in the capacity of British agent and consul general in Cairo—virtually a governor generalship of Egypt—and let in the economical development of the country, building new roads and irrigation projects on a large scale.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer veil of facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and harmless. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago. It has been amply demonstrated that common mercolized wax (sold by druggists in ounce packages), entirely removes, by gentle absorption, the withered, lifeless surface skin, showing the youthful, roselike skin beneath. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin.

A simple and harmless wrinkle-remover which has also proved quite successful can easily be made at home in a jiffy. All one need do is to dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face in the solution once a day for awhile. After the very first application the finer lines disappear and the deeper ones soon follow.

ence in causing him to remain silent.

The uncontrollable quality of the progressive convention lies in the fact that in point of effective numbers it is a third again as large as the republican convention. In some cases the delegates are openly disapproving the dealings of the progressive leaders with the republican managers in their efforts to make peace.

NEITHER LAFOLLETTE OR BURTON SUIT.

It is plain tonight that all the arguments of the progressive leaders to hurry the balloting in the coliseum have failed to change the plans of the republican managers.

The keynote speech at the progressive convention is expected by many to be tantamount to placing Colonel Roosevelt in nomination. Many expect a tremendous demonstration there, threatening to sweep aside all attempt at delay.

In all the negotiations for harmony between the two sides the republican managers consider that their position has been strengthened by the fact that all along they have been ready to present for discussion a list of candidates, any one of whom could command the support of the others. To offset this condition the name of Senator LaFollette was brought forward by the progressives. The republicans immediately rejected it and charged the progressives with insincerity in presenting the name of a candidate they were unwilling to accept themselves. On that point the progressive managers turned the tables and demanded that the republicans bring forward a name. The republicans responded by suggesting former Senator Burton of Ohio. The objection of the progressive managers to Mr. Burton were voiced by Governor Johnson of California.

Fire Prevention Film and Lecture Free at Hippodrome Theatre

R. B. Godley of the state fire commission will deliver a lecture at the Hippodrome at 9:30 tomorrow morning on fire prevention. There will also be shown 1500 feet of moving pictures and forty slides. Much interest has been taken in the lecture by local city organizations and insurance men. The pictures are educational and are calculated to show the most modern and efficient method of fire prevention and extinction. Precautionary measures are also shown in such a manner that they are plain to all. The experiments that are shown in the picture were made in the only absolutely fire proof building in the world—the Underwriters' Laboratory building. The furniture, doors and all equipment in this construction are of metal, and practically all of the experiments that are made to test fires and extinguishing methods are made there.

The admission to the lecture and pictures will be free to the public. The operator, theatre, lights and "juice" will be furnished by the Hippodrome.

A Fine Aid For Mother-to-be

We are all greatly indebted to those who tell their experiences. And among the many things which we read about and are of immediate importance to the expectant mother, is a splendid external remedy called "Mother's Friend." This is applied over the muscles of the stomach. It is deeply penetrating in its influence. Mothers everywhere tell of its soothing effect, how it allays pains incident to stretching of cords, ligaments and muscles. They tell of restful comfort, of calm, peaceful nights, an absence of those distresses peculiar to the period of expectancy, relief from morning sickness, no more of that apprehension with which so many young women's minds become burdened. It is a splendid help. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from your nearest druggist. Ask your husband to get it for you. Then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 408 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a very handsome and instructive book. It is filled with suggestive ideas of great help to all women interested in the subject of maternity. And best of all are some letters from mothers that are real inspirations. Write today.

TWELVE YEARS OF FAILING HEALTH

Brought to Happy End. Says the People in Three Counties Know What Cardui Did for Her.

Weaverville, N. C.—Mrs. Abbagail Hampton, of this place, says that about 12 years ago she began to take Cardui after having been in failing health for 12 years, during which time she had to take to her bed four days out of each month, and suffered agony; that the doctors told her she must have female trouble and gave her medicine which did her no good and finally insisted on her going to the hospital for treatment.

She goes on to say: "I am a large woman, and my ordinary weight, 160 pounds, went down to 135. I got so bad I just dragged around and could scarcely sit up——My neighbors all thought I was going to die and would say I couldn't live long. My little daughter thought the same....

"My husband and friends urged me to try Cardui, and he bought me some of it. I began feeling better as soon as I began taking it, and I steadily improved until I was well and strong. I make my garden, do my housework and have cooked for 20 boarders at one time. Am a strong, healthy woman, permanently cured by Cardui. My husband and I can't say enough for Cardui.... The people in three counties know what this medicine has done for me, for neither I nor my husband ever cease praising it."

Cardui is for sale at all druggists with full directions for use. Try it.

CITY TENNIS COURTS IS MOOTED SUBJECT

The proposed establishment of municipal tennis courts, was a source of extended argument at the meeting of the Y. M. B. L. directorate last night.

J. W. Carlin was the first to speak, saying that a great benefit could be derived by the people from the use of the free courts. It is as much of a business proposition, he said, as having a good base ball team for which most of the directorate was so enthusiastic, and is in line with general welfare movements. That the courts are a commercial proposition he proved by the fact that San Antonio is advertising to tourists and resorters that they have municipal courts and golf links, accessible to all. The cost of the courts is small, he said, well constructed clay courts of the first class costing only fifty dollars and grass courts only ten or twelve dollars. W. V. Crawford reinforced this argument and stated that the matter of expense was a small one, the thing to consider being the worth of the idea.

The proposition was opposed by W. W. Naman who said that he thought this was not a matter for the Y. M. B. L. to take told of, as it was a comparatively small movement and had no direct commercial bearing upon the city, and therefore did not come under the scope of the organization. He asserted that frequently he had mentioned the proposed establishment of the courts to working men, and jurors with whom he had come in contact, and that it had generally brought a smile from them. They were men who had no time for this sport and recreation.

This brought the retort from Mr. Carlin that although they might not have the opportunity to partake of the privileges offered by the courts, their children would.

Mr. Naman stated that it would, in his opinion he a good idea to carry to completion by the Y. M. B. L., if it was a part of a great playground scheme or plan of recreation, but as it was comparatively small, he did not think the Y. M. B. L. should work on it. It is the work of the Welfare league, or some other civic body, he said.

It was stated by Mr. Carlin that as matters now are, tennis and golf are only for those who belong to exclusive clubs or for those who own their own courts. If tennis courts were established in different parts of the city, those who cared to might play in the early morning and the children of the "hard-working man" might get the advantage of the sport that only those who could afford to make their own courts now enjoy, said Mr. Carlin.

Local Deaths

Elizabeth Gilmer.

Little Elizabeth Gilmer, 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gilmer, was laid to rest here yesterday afternoon on arrival of the M. K. & T. train from San Antonio at 4:45 o'clock.

Little Elizabeth died in San Antonio, where the family now reside, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and it was decided that the little body should be laid to rest here in Waco where the old friends of the family live. It was painful news which the wires carried yesterday morning when the message of death reached Waco, and many eyes were moist with tears as recollections came back of the sweet-faced, loving and responsive little one whose earthly stay was so brief. And yet while her stay was brief, she had taken an imperishable hold upon the hearts of the parents and many others and the memory of Little Elizabeth will remain fresh throughout the days to come. Deep and sincere sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer, and their friends here understand the loss they have sustained, but it should be remembered that the little feet have been spared many a thorn which must rent even the most favored who walk this earthly way; and many a tear which must of necessity have dimmed the bright eyes of the child will not be shed, for her lot is now happiness and rest until the parents join her on the other shore.

Relatives and friends met the train at 4:45 yesterday afternoon, the white casket was borne to Oakwood, and while Rev. F. S. Groner, pastor of the Columbus street Baptist church, spoke words of comfort, the services were concluded at Oakwood cemetery. The parents and their little daughter came to Waco.

Mrs. Susan Francis Thompson.

Passing from scenes of active helpfulness, Christian faith and service into that upper and better realm prepared for the faithful, there passed away peacefully at 8 o'clock yesterday morning a woman who has left her impress for good upon hundreds—Mrs. Susan Francis Thompson, widow of T. B. Thompson, who passed to his reward more than thirty years ago.

Mrs. Thompson was a devoted, earnest and consecrated member of the Columbus street Baptist church, and was never happier than when engaged in Christian work or in the performance of some kind act or charitable deed.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. A. M. Callaway, Tyler; Mrs. William Baker, Fort Worth; Mrs. Thomas Hollon, Waco; J. M. and W. B. Thompson, Waco. Death took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hollon, 828 South Seventh street, where she has made her home for more than a decade and where the brightness of her beautiful life has shed a halo around the inmates of this household. Mrs. Thompson was 79 years of age. She was born in Mississippi, removed to Alabama in her young ladyhood and was married there to T. B. Thompson. Her maiden name was Miss Susan Francis Crenshaw, her father being a prominent and wealthy ante-bellum plantation man and slave holder. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson moved to Brenham, Texas, just after the civil war, and it was about twenty-two years ago that Mrs. Thompson came to Waco.

The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock this morning from the residence of Thomas Hollon, 828 South Seventh street, conducted by Rev. F. S. Groner, assisted by Rev. J. M. Dawson, interment at Oakwood cemetery. The pall bearers are—Active: H. B. Snead, W. H. Billington, J. E. Burt, H. R. Boggess, W. H. Gohagan and D. P. Wallace. Honorary: A. B. Darden, Dr. A. M. Curtiss, John Reed, John Beresford, Judge W. H. Jenkins and Judge W. H. Davis.

Waco Ties for First Place in Number of Naval Recruits

Waco ties with Oklahoma City for the honor of enlisting the greatest number of men for the navy during May in this district. The number of men obtained by both cities was thirteen. The monthly report sent to the local station qualified Waco as "excellent," and added that May of this year had been a better month, insofar as enlistments were concerned, than the same month in any previous year. District Officer J. C. Cunningham stated through the report that he was "extremely well satisfied with the showing made by many of the substations."

The whole district enlisted for the month of May ninety men for naval service. The district in which Waco is located, and of which Dallas is the headquarters, leads any other district in the United States in the number of men accepted for the navy, although many of the metropolitan cities have a great many more applications. Captain Hair stated that a greater percentage of the applicants were received here for the reason that the percentage of "hoboes" who applied here was much smaller than it was in many of the larger cities.

Marine Recruiting Station Established in This City

Sergeant Joseph A. Roesch, formerly of the marine corps station at Fort Worth, arrived in Waco Monday night. Mr. Roesch will establish a permanent recruiting station for the marine corps, which he himself will operate. The headquarters are now located at 421 1-2 Austin avenue.

The service consists of two years land and two years sea service. The raw recruit is first taken to a school where he is taught the rudiments of the service, after which he is sent to sea, generally on expeditionary work. The main station, of which this is a sub-station, is located at Houston, there being five stations in all.

The cause of the establishment of the sub-station here is the expected increase in the number of men that will be required for the service. The full strength of the marine corps is now 9981, according to Sergeant Roesch, but this will be increased by about three thousand, on account of the bill now in passage by the house.

The enlistment in this service is for a period of four years, the pay being fifteen dollars per month. Information along all lines of the work will be given out by Sergeant Roesch upon request.

Improvement Notes

Work began yesterday on the beautiful new eight-room cottage to be erected by Dr. J. F. Bailey on Sanger avenue, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets, adjoining the present residence. Dr. Bailey will occupy this residence as his home as soon as it shall have been completed.

Jurney has the distinction of being the first property owner on Sanger avenue between Eighteenth and Twenty-eighth streets to respond to notification to build sidewalks and curbs where these had not been built. The sidewalks and curbs were recently ordered by the city commission from Eighteenth to Twenty-eighth, as noted above, and Mr. Jurney is putting down the improvements at Twentieth and Sanger, where he has nearly two lots on the corner.

MRS. H. G. BOSTWICK GIVES LAWN PARTY

Called together in defiance of the excessive heat, twenty-five or thirty of the young people of North Twelfth and the immediate neighborhood responded to Mrs. H. G. Bostwick's invitation for a social evening in her cool parlors. The victrola furnished music for the two-step and waltz and cooling punch helped make the evening thoroughly enjoyable. When it was nearly time to leave, Mrs. Bostwick added the last touch to her delightful hospitality by serving delicious brick cream and cake. This affair was one of the last that will be enjoyed by the young folks of the neighborhood, since they will soon disband for the summer.

Friends have commented on the sweet thoughtfulness of this young girl who, when she received so many gorgeous bouquets at her recital, directed that they be taken to the charity ward of the Providence sanitarium. Her loving kindness in her hour of triumph will be long remembered by those less fortunate. In addition to her musical talent, she is also clever in literary work. She was exempt from all her high school examinations.

MARY WEST CHAPTER OBSERVES DAVIS' BIRTHDAY

A cool breeze, inviting lawn and an interesting program were the inspiration for Saturday afternoon in celebration of Jefferson Davis' birth anniversary by the Mary West chapter of the U. D. C. His youth, manhood, career as a statesman, and campaign life, were embraced in three highly interesting and instructive papers by Mesdames Perry, Lastinger and Forrester. Mrs. Beatty gave an entertaining reading on points in Mr. Davis' life. Many members of the Pat Cleburne camp participated in the exercises. Mrs. F. M. Gardner gave a review of incidents in her personal association with President Davis, recalling pleasing memories. Major Lyle made a talk and Adjutant Hancock gave a report of the Birmingham reunion, lauding the Boy Scouts, fifteen hundred of whom were in attendance to look after the comforts of the veterans.

Fifty or more of the chapter were present and enjoyed the unusually fine program, after which a refreshing punch awaited them.

Wacoans Pleased at Rogers' Defense of City's Name

Many complimentary remarks were heard yesterday regarding the timely defense of Waco at Dallas when Federal Judge Sheppard declared that "fifteen thousand Waco men, women and children sanctioned the burning of Jesse Washington."

It was stated yesterday by most of those who commented on the matter that G. B. Rogers, the young Waco attorney who so aptly defended the name of Waco, represented matters correctly when he stated that the great mass of the people here condemned, in unstinted terms the things which were done to Washington by the mob, and that the people here are opposed to mob law.

It was considered fortunate that young Rogers had the courage and the fidelity to make known the feeling of the larger part of the community here, in the judgment of those who spoke of the matter yesterday.

Offered $45 Ton for Cottonseed Fall Delivery

"I have been offered $45 a ton for my cotton seed, fall delivery, two or three times, but believe the seed will be worth a lot more than I have been offered; in fact, it looks like the seed in a bale of cotton is going to be worth fully as much as a bale of cotton is worth under some conditions."

This is the way J. E. Horne, big plantation man, sized up the outlook for prices on cotton seed yesterday, and this is another of the hopeful prophesies which have been coming in regarding the splendid chances for farmers this fall. The actual opportunity for farmers to sell now at a big price if they wish, is available, but most of them are holding, believing that prices are going to be still better than the alluring offers now held out.

Some farmers have sold part of their cotton for 12 cents a pound, fall delivery, and a few sold at 11 1-2 cents a pound, but many are predicting 15-cent cotton, so the situation is a most interesting one.

At any rate, it looks as though this part of the country ought to be in flourishing condition this fall.

Some Fire Insurance Companies Said to Object to Raise

It appears, from what some of the Waco fire insurance companies say, that several of the Texas fire insurance companies did not favor the proposed raise in rates of 33 1-3 per cent, which was advocated last week at Austin, and other Texas companies, while favoring some raise, did not want it to amount to the proposed figures of 33 1-3 per cent.

Some of these Texas companies claimed that they are getting along all right as matters now stand, and that such a large raise was not needed and was not desirable. Several Texas companies did ask for a raise of 11 cents on shingle roofs, making the total charge 25 cents, and 10 cents on "blocks" or congestions, restoring the old 20-cent charge; it would mean an increase of about 6 per cent in mercantiles.

Letters of protest against the big raise proposed were received from some forty cities and towns. The Texas companies are getting stronger all the time, and there are many business men who take the view that the home companies shoul dbe given every chance to enter the field and compete with other companies, keeping a great deal of money at home in this manner.

Baylor Girl Gets Dodge Car as Her Graduation Present

Probably no college graduate in the state will receive a more substantial gift than Miss Mettie Rodgers of Hico, who gets her diploma from Baylor university this morning. J. C. Rodgers, her father, well-known business man of Hico, and W. Pitt Barnes, prominent bankers of that enterprising city and a member of the Central Motor company of Waco, came to this city yesterday in a new model Dodge Brothers' car—which car goes to Miss Rodgers as her commencement gift. The ease and pleasure with which the father and Mr. Barnes made the trip to Waco is illustrative of the acceptability of this car as a master of the road.

Miss Rodgers during her college course has received the distinction of being voted the most beautiful girl of her class and has not only been active as a classmate but has held positions of honor in the student governing body, and other departments of student activities.

What He Found

"Having drunk an excellent cup of coffee," said a certain physician, "I found that I hadn't drunk coffee, but Postum!"

Numbers of people, like the doctor, have been pleasantly surprised at the pleasant aroma and snappy, Java-like taste of Postum.

And yet, Postum doesn't contain a particle of coffee—and better still, not a particle of the drug, caffeine, nor any other harmful substance.

Postum is made from wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses—a pure food-drink that is both healthful and delicious. A great many sufferers from headaches, "coffee heart," nervousness, sleeplessness and other ills brought on by the use of coffee with its nerve-destroying drug, caffeine, have found happy relief by quitting coffee and using

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be boiled; Instant Postum—soluble—is made in the cup with hot water, instantly. The cost per cup is about the same, and both kinds are equally delicious when made right.

Fire Prevention Film and Lecture Free at Hippodrome Theatre

R. B. Godley of the state fire commission will deliver a lecture at the Hippodrome at 9:30 tomorrow morning on fire prevention. There will also be shown 1500 feet of moving pictures and forty slides. Much interest has been taken in the lecture by local city organizations and insurance men. The pictures are educational and are calculated to show the most modern and efficient method of fire prevention and extinction. Precautionary measures are also shown in such a manner that they are plain to all. The experiments that are shown in the picture were made in the only absolutely fire proof building in the world—the Underwriters' Laboratory building. The furniture, doors and all equipment in this construction are of metal, and practically all of the experiments that are made to test fires and extinguishing methods are made there.

The admission to the lecture and pictures will be free to the public. The operator, theatre, lights and "juice" will be furnished by the Hippodrome.

A Fine Aid For Mother-to-be

We are all greatly indebted to those who tell their experiences. And among the many things which we read about and are of immediate importance to the expectant mother, is a splendid external remedy called "Mother's Friend." This is applied over the muscles of the stomach. It is deeply penetrating in its influence. Mothers everywhere tell of its soothing effect, how it allays pains incident to stretching of cords, ligaments and muscles. They tell of restful comfort, of calm, peaceful nights, an absence of those distresses peculiar to the period of expectancy, relief from morning sickness, no more of that apprehension with which so many young women's minds become burdened. It is a splendid help. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" from your nearest druggist. Ask your husband to get it for you. Then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 408 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a very handsome and instructive book. It is filled with suggestive ideas of great help to all women interested in the subject of maternity. And best of all are some letters from mothers that are real inspirations. Write today.

TWELVE YEARS OF FAILING HEALTH

Brought to Happy End. Says the People in Three Counties Know What Cardui Did for Her.

Weaverville, N. C.—Mrs. Abbagail Hampton, of this place, says that about 12 years ago she began to take Cardui after having been in failing health for 12 years, during which time she had to take to her bed four days out of each month, and suffered agony; that the doctors told her she must have female trouble and gave her medicine which did her no good and finally insisted on her going to the hospital for treatment.

She goes on to say: "I am a large woman, and my ordinary weight, 160 pounds, went down to 135. I got so bad I just dragged around and could scarcely sit up——My neighbors all thought I was going to die and would say I couldn't live long. My little daughter thought the same....

"My husband and friends urged me to try Cardui, and he bought me some of it. I began feeling better as soon as I began taking it, and I steadily improved until I was well and strong. I make my garden, do my housework and have cooked for 20 boarders at one time. Am a strong, healthy woman, permanently cured by Cardui. My husband and I can't say enough for Cardui.... The people in three counties know what this medicine has done for me, for neither I nor my husband ever cease praising it."

Cardui is for sale at all druggists with full directions for use. Try it.

CITY TENNIS COURTS IS MOOTED SUBJECT

The proposed establishment of municipal tennis courts, was a source of extended argument at the meeting of the Y. M. B. L. directorate last night. J. W. Carlin was the first to speak, saying that a great benefit could be derived by the people from the use of the free courts. It is as much of a business proposition, he said, as having a good base ball team for which most of the directorate was so enthusiastic, and is in line with general welfare movements. That the courts are a commercial proposition he proved by the fact that San Antonio is advertising to tourists and resorters that they have municipal courts and golf links, accessible to all. The cost of the courts is small, he said, well constructed clay courts of the first class costing only fifty dollars and grass courts only ten or twelve dollars. W. V. Crawford reinforced this argument and stated that the matter of expense was a small one, the thing to consider being the worth of the idea.

The proposition was opposed by W. W. Naman who said that he thought this was not a matter for the Y. M. B. L. to take told of, as it was a comparatively small movement and had no direct commercial bearing upon the city, and therefore did not come under the scope of the organization. He asserted that frequently he had mentioned the proposed establishment of the courts to working men, and jurors with whom he had come in contact, and that it had generally brought a smile from them. They were men who had no time for this sport and recreation.

This brought the retort from Mr. Carlin that although they might not have the opportunity to partake of the privileges offered by the courts, their children would.

Mr. Naman stated that it would, in his opinion be a good idea to carry to completion by the Y. M. B. L., if it was a part of a great playground scheme or plan of recreation, but as it was comparatively small, he did not think the Y. M. B. L. should work on it. It is the work of the Welfare league, or some other civic body, he said.

It was stated by Mr. Carlin that as matters now are, tennis and golf are only for those who belong to exclusive clubs or for those who own their own courts. If tennis courts were established in different parts of the city, those who cared to might play in the early morning and the children of the "hard-working man" might get the advantage of the sport that only those who could afford to make their own courts now enjoy, said Mr. Carlin.

Local Deaths

Elizabeth Gilmer.

Little Elizabeth Gilmer, 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gilmer, was laid to rest here yesterday afternoon on arrival of the M. K. & T. train from San Antonio at 4:45 o'clock.

Little Elizabeth died in San Antonio, where the family now reside, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and it was decided that the little body should be laid to rest here in Waco where the old friends of the family live. It was painful news which the wires carried yesterday morning when the message of death reached Waco, and many eyes were moist with tears as recollections came back of the sweet-faced, loving and responsive little one whose earthly stay was so brief. And yet while her stay was brief, she had taken an imperishable hold upon the hearts of the parents and many others and the memory of Little Elizabeth will remain fresh throughout the days to come. Deep and sincere sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer, and their friends here understand the loss they have sustained, but it should be remembered that the little feet have been spared many a thorn which must rent even the most favored who walk this earthly way; and many a tear which must of necessity have dimmed the bright eyes of the child will not be shed, for her lot is now happiness and rest until the parents join her on the other shore.

Relatives and friends met the train at 4:45 yesterday afternoon, the white casket was borne to Oakwood, and while Rev. F. S. Groner, pastor of the Columbus street Baptist church, spoke words of comfort, the services were concluded at Oakwood cemetery. The parents and their little daughter came to Waco.

Mrs. Susan Francis Thompson.

Passing from scenes of active helpfulness, Christian faith and service into that upper and better realm prepared for the faithful, there passed away peacefully at 8 o'clock yesterday morning a woman who has left her impress for good upon hundreds—Mrs. Susan Francis Thompson, widow of T. B. Thompson, who passed to his reward more than thirty years ago.

Mrs. Thompson was a devoted, earnest and consecrated member of the Columbus street Baptist church, and was never happier than when engaged in Christian work or in the performance of some kind act or charitable deed.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. A. M. Callaway, Tyler; Mrs. William Baker, Fort Worth; Mrs. Thomas Hollon, Waco; J. M. and W. B. Thompson, Waco. Death took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hollon, 828 South Seventh street, where she has made her home for more than a decade and where the brightness of her beautiful life has shed a halo around the inmates of this household. Mrs. Thompson was 79 years of age. She was born in Mississippi, removed to Alabama in her young ladyhood and was married there to T. B. Thompson. Her maiden name was Miss Susan Francis Crenshaw, her father being a prominent and wealthy ante-bellum plantation man and slave holder. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson moved to Brenham, Texas, just after the civil war, and it was about twenty-two years ago that Mrs. Thompson came to Waco.

The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock this morning from the residence of Thomas Hollon, 828 South Seventh street, conducted by Rev. F. S. Groner, assisted by Rev. J. M. Dawson, interment at Oakwood cemetery. The pall bearers are—Active: H. B. Snead, W. H. Billington, J. E. Burt, H. R. Boggess, W. H. Gohagan and D. P. Wallace. Honorary: A. B. Darden, Dr. A. M. Curtiss, John Reed, John Beresford, Judge W. H. Jenkins and Judge W. H. Davis.

"The All-Senior class of the University of Oklahoma invites you to be present at the twentyfourth annual commencement Thursday morning, June eighth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, at Norman, Okla."

The Lowry brothers, upon graduation, will leave Oklahoma for New York, where they will become internes in one of the large hospitals.

MRS. H. G. BOSTWICK GIVES LAWN PARTY

Called together in defiance of the excessive heat, twenty-five or thirty of the young people of North Twelfth and the immediate neighborhood responded to Mrs. H. G. Bostwick's invitation for a social evening in her cool parlors. The victrola furnished music for the two-step and waltz and cooling punch helped make the evening thoroughly enjoyable. When it was nearly time to leave, Mrs. Bostwick added the last touch to her delightful hospitality by serving delicious brick cream and cake. This affair was one of the last that will be enjoyed by the young folks of the neighborhood, since they will soon disband for the summer.

YOUNG WACO GIRL UNUSUALLY CLEVER

Miss Lucile Jackson, who recently gave her recital in the Central Christian church, is only fifteen years old. She intends to pursue her studies under her teacher, Mrs. Mattie D. Willis, having received a scholarship in harmony. Friends have commented on the sweet thoughtfulness of this young girl who, when she received so many gorgeous bouquets at her recital, directed that they be taken to the charity ward of the Providence sanitarium. Her loving kindness in her hour of triumph will be long remembered by those less fortunate. In addition to her musical talent, she is also clever in literary work. She was exempt from all her high school examinations.

MRS. W. L. DUGGER FOR MISS REYNOLDS OF ALVARADO

Mrs. W. L. Dugger entertained three tables of bridge in honor of Miss Reynolds of Alvarado. Attractively arranged clusters of daisies made the dining room a festive place in which to serve the pretty salad and ice course. The artistic bamboo trays with their accompanying offering of sweet peas in variegated colors were received with eager praise by the tired bridge players. Sweet peas were also placed to advantage in the living room where the absorbing game was in progress. Miss Ella Flewellyn assisted the hostess in serving. Mrs. Joney Smith cut high and Mrs. Robert Coleman cut consolation.

The following were Mrs. Dugger's guests: Mesdames Kyle Vick, Joe Thompson, Albert Harris, Robert Coleman, Colton De Bellevue, Joney Smith, Sampson and Misses Louise Lawson, Esse Forrester, Whitman, Sally Morse. Callers after the game were Mesdames R. L. Smith, Ralph McLendon, Frances Flewellyn.

MARY WEST CHAPTER OBSERVES DAVIS' BIRTHDAY

A cool breeze, inviting lawn and an interesting program were the inspiration for Saturday afternoon in celebration of Jefferson Davis' birth anniversary by the Mary West chapter of the U. D. C. His youth, manhood, career as a statesman, and campaign life, were embraced in three highly interesting and instructive papers by Mesdames Perry, Lastinger and Forrester. Mrs. Beatty gave an entertaining reading on points in Mr. Davis' life. Many members of the Pat Cleburne camp participated in the exercises. Mrs. F. M. Gardner gave a review of incidents in her personal association with President Davis, recalling pleasing memories. Major Lyle made a talk and Adjutant Hancock gave a report of the Birmingham reunion, lauding the Boy Scouts, fifteen hundred of whom were in attendance to look after the comforts of the veterans.

Fifty or more of the chapter were present and enjoyed the unusually fine program, after which a refreshing punch awaited them.

Wacoans Pleased at Rogers' Defense of City's Name

Many complimentary remarks were heard yesterday regarding the timely defense of Waco at Dallas when Federal Judge Sheppard declared that "fifteen thousand Waco men, women and children sanctioned the burning of Jesse Washington."

It was stated yesterday by most of those who commented on the matter that G. B. Rogers, the young Waco attorney who so aptly defended the name of Waco, represented matters correctly when he stated that the great mass of the people here condemned, in unstinted terms the things which were done to Washington by the mob, and that the people here are opposed to mob law.

It was considered fortunate that young Rogers had the courage and the fidelity to make known the feeling of the larger part of the community here, in the judgment of those who spoke of the matter yesterday.

Offered $45 Ton for Cottonseed Fall Delivery

"I have been offered $45 a ton for my cotton seed, fall delivery, two or three times, but believe the seed will be worth a lot more than I have been offered; in fact, it looks like the seed in a bale of cotton is going to be worth fully as much as a bale of cotton is worth under some conditions."

This is the way J. E. Horne, big plantation man, sized up the outlook for prices on cotton seed yesterday, and this is another of the hopeful prophesies which have been coming in regarding the splendid chances for farmers this fall. The actual opportunity for farmers to sell now at a big price if they wish, is available, but most of them are holding, believing that prices are going to be still better than the allurting offers now held out.

Some farmers have sold part of their cotton for 12 cents a pound, fall delivery, and a few sold at 11 1-2 cents a pound, but many are predicting 15-cent cotton, so the situation is a most interesting one.

At any rate, it looks as though this part of the country ought to be in flourishing condition this fall.

Some Fire Insurance Companies Said to Object to Raise

It appears, from what some of the Waco fire insurance companies say, that several of the Texas fire insurance companies did not favor the proposed raise in rates of 33 1-3 per cent, which was advocated last week at Austin, and other Texas companies, while favoring some raise, did not want it to amount to the proposed figures of 33 1-3 per cent.

Some of these Texas companies claimed that they are getting along all right as matters now stand, and that such a large raise was not needed and was not desirable. Several Texas companies did ask for a raise of 11 cents on shingle roofs, making the total charge 25 cents, and 10 cents on "blocks" or congestions, restoring the old 20-cent charge; it would mean an increase of about 6 per cent in mercantiles.

Letters of protest against the big raise proposed were received from some forty cities and towns. The Texas companies are getting stronger all the time, and there are many business men who take the view that the home companies shoul dbe given every chance to enter the field and compete with other companies, keeping a great deal of money at home in this manner.

Baylor Girl Gets Dodge Car as Her Graduation Present

Probably no college graduate in the state will receive a more substantial gift than Miss Mettie Rodgers of Hico, who gets her diploma from Baylor university this morning. J. C. Rodgers, her father, well-known business man of Hico, and W. Pitt Barnes, prominent bankers of that enterprising city and a member of the Central Motor company of Waco, came to this city yesterday in a new model Dodge Brothers' car—which car goes to Miss Rodgers as her commencement gift. The ease and pleasure with which the father and Mr. Barnes made the trip to Waco is illustrative of the acceptability of this car as a master of the road.

Miss Rodgers during her college course has received the distinction of being voted the most beautiful girl of her class and has not only been active as a classmate but has held positions of honor in the student governing body, and other departments of student activities.

Miss Helen Pool Winner.

What He Found

"Having drunk an excellent cup of coffee," said a certain physician, "I found that I hadn't drunk coffee, but Postum!"

Numbers of people, like the doctor, have been pleasantly surprised at the pleasant aroma and snappy, Java-like taste of Postum.

And yet, Postum doesn't contain a particle of coffee—and better still, not a particle of the drug, caffeine, nor any other harmful substance.

Postum is made from wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses—a pure food-drink that is both healthful and delicious. A great many sufferers from headaches, "coffee heart," nervousness, sleeplessness and other ills brought on by the use of coffee with its nerve-destroying drug, caffeine, have found happy relief by quitting coffee and using

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be boiled; Instant Postum—soluble—is made in the cup with hot water, instantly. The cost per cup is about the same, and both kinds are equally delicious when made right.

OUR INTANGIBLE PARADOX.

The International and Great Northern railway will dispute by legal proceedings the effort of the state authorities to assess its so-called "intangible" values on the ground that it is insolvent and in the hands of a receiver, and hence has no intangible value. The contention appears to be sound upon its face, and the circumstance illustrates the need for an amendment of the taxing clauses of the constitution.

The intangible tax law was, in fact, framed to evade the provisions of the constitution which were adapted to conditions as they existed forty years ago, and are wholly out of joint with modern conditions. This law attempts to tax the difference between the value of the physical asset and the good will of a business by declaring arbitrarily a valuation upon what is called the intangible value. There is no such thing. A factory may make $100,000 one year and lose $50,000 the next. Its physical assets may be worth $200,000. Under this law the tax assessor is expected to list something else than these physical properties, which he will classify as "intangibles." The scheme really aims at the earning capacity of the plant, but this cannot be lawfully taxed under the constitution. Yet it is clear that a factory losing $50,000 in one year has no intangible value, and it is equally clear that a valuation of intangibles based on one year's earnings is wholly artificial and unjust.

The lesson is that the state needs a new constitution which is built for 1916 instead of for 1875.

Any special assessment levied upon a business should be measured by its ability to pay, rather than by the volume of its nominal assets. A tax upon net earnings is the only equitable tax of that sort.

REPUBLICANS ATTEMPT THE IMPOSSIBLE.

The problem of the republicans at Chicago is to hitch together elements that do not think together. Roosevelt's following is, in the main, further away from the following of Barnes and Penrose than it is from the democratic party. When it headed toward democracy four years ago, it got off at a half-way station labeled "Progressive."

Having tasted political freedom, the rank and file of the "progressives" can not be won back by mere declarations of unity and by sops thrown to their leaders. Roosevelt has set the example of successful revolt, and it is an easier job to conciliate Roosevelt than to win back all of the millions who learned to vote as they please. Many of them are pleased with Wilson, and will vote for him, without regard to what either wing of the republican party may do.

It may be regarded as already settled that the regulars at Chicago will not nominate Roosevelt, and that they will nominate a colorless candidate. It is equally certain that the Roosevelt element will not cordially support the Chicago nominee, although it may give him a perfunctory endorsement. The burning hope to reach the pie counter will win acquiescence from many patriots whose chief purpose is to plant their feet in the trough, but the rank and file will have no such aspiration, and they will not rally with enthusiasm around a banner which they have vigorously fought for four years.

Georgia will ship only 3,500 cars of peaches this year. The Georgia cracker has too much to do in a campaign year looking after politics to give much attention to the cultivation of either peaches or peanuts.

Waco should get the democratic state nominating convention. The state committee will meet at Dallas June 12th and select the location.

Is it possible that Mr. Bailey is laying his plans to re-enter the senate by the testamentary route?

Developments in Dallas indicate that the new downtown Methodist church which will be erected as a result of the merger of the First Methodist, the Trinity Methodist and the University Place Methodist churches, will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 and will probably be built on Federal street, near the City Temple, the structure just being completed by the congregation of the Central Presbyterian church at a cost of $250,000.

James W. Falvella and Miss Carrie Vera Rolleris were married in San Antonio. The story becomes more interesting when it is known that the bride came from far-off New England and the groom from the border town of Laredo, where he is holding down the dual job of city editor and star reporter of the Laredo Times, while he is also first assistant fire chief of the Laredo fire department. Six months ago J. W. Falvella, city editor of the Laredo Times, received an inquiry regarding the soil of Webb county from a Miss Carrie Vera Rolleris of Summerville, Mass. He replied in such glowing terms of praise that Miss Rolleris asked for a sample of the soil. This was sent by Mr. Falvella, and as an evidence of its miraculous powers, Miss Rolleris has decided to make her home in Laredo.

MARLIN SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS

STUDENTS' CANNING FACTORY EXPERIENCES BIG RUSH OF BUSINESS.

Box Being Prepared for Lightguards. Labor Scarce at Marlin.

Marlin, June 6.—At the regular meeting of the Marlin school board last night, A. G. Bell was elected teacher of English in the high school, to fill the vacancy caused by the first teacher elected failing to accept. Mr. Bell is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has had five years' experience in this line of work.

During the session Monday night the faculty for the negro schools was elected, all being re-elected except one.

The venture of two high school students of the agricultural class to start a canning factory business during the summer, using an outfit similar to that used for demonstration purposes in the high school, proved so successful that the young company, Phills & Glass, have already run out of cans and have been compelled to refuse work pending the receipt of a new shipment of tin cans. The product canned to date consists principally of beans.

The Wells Fargo Express company has offered to transport free to the camp at Mercedes a box the mothers and families of the members of the B. C. Clark Lightguards, encamped there, are preparing to ship Thursday. The box is being prepared at Mrs. E. P. Hutchings' and all who have anything to send are requested to have their packages on hand by Thursday noon. Herbert Cooley left last night for Mercedes to re-join his company after a furlough of ten days spent with home folks.

The cattle dipping vat recently completed on the Ernest Boyles place is being kept busy, the first lot dipped being eighty-three head by J. A. Kirkpatrick of Reagan, Monday, and 100 by Ernest Fannin following today. County Agricultural Agent Chaney was on hand both times, testing the dipping solution to see it was of the proper strength to kill the ticks.

Labor is so scarce in this section that J. O. Seeber, who has the contract to tear down the old rock dam bridge, had a hard time picking up two men at $1.50 a day to work on the job. The negroes are all chopping cotton and getting that price; and in many cases, it is reported, their board in addition.

The following Waco people are registered at Marlin hotels: R. O. O'Donohoe, V. Hoeschiled, I. M. Bass, Will Carroll, Don McAdams, Warren Wood Hunt, Billy Hammond.

Railroad Commission Abolishes Galveston Differential

Austin, Tex., June 6.—The railroad commission today announced an entirely new tariff on general class rates abolished the Galveston differential in all class rates, superseding tariff of class rates number three. Galveston is now placed on a straight mileage basis in every rate tariff. The decision today practically completes the ruling of the commission in the request for advanced rates. The cotton tariff was not disposed of at this time.

The new rates become effective June 26 and increases the old scale 10 per cent on all classes except fourth class, which is increased 5 per cent. Maximum distance is increased from 245 to 255 miles. Common point and differential territories remain practically the same. Changes were announced in the tariff on sugar and molasses, fruits, vegetables and melons, and empty barrels and kegs.

Texas Editors Meet in El Paso

El Paso, Tex., June 6.—Members of the Texas Press association, when convened in its twenty-seventh annual convention here today, were the guests of Carranza officials and Andres G. Whitman of Dallas, president, and Henry Edwards of Troupe, vice president, the trip across the border was made at the invitation of the representatives of the de facto government.

The convention will continue Wednesday and Thursday. Texarkana, Galveston and Fort Worth are the leading contenders for the 1917 session.

Guardsmen Fail to Appear for Court Martial

San Antonio, Tex., June 6.—The absence of all the accused caused a postponement today of the trial by court martial of those members of the Texas militia who failed to present themselves for muster in the federal service. Under the presidency of Colonel Edward A. Millar of the Third field artillery, and with Major Blanton Winship as judge advocate, the court was ready for organization today, but the actual trial can not take place until the recalcitrant guardsmen are located and brought here. The original number of those who failed to respond has been greatly reduced from 116 by those who straggled in from time to time and signed the muster roll.

Members of the court were unable to say when the trial would begin.

Jalonick, representing the three Texas fire insurance companies, today voiced opposition to the flat advance of 33 1-3 per cent as applied for on fire insurance rates and now being heard before the state fire insurance commission. Pendleton and Charles Dubose of the association represented the cotton crushers.

COTTON PALACE GUARANTEE ALMOST SECURED ALREADY

W. H. Hoffmann reported at the Y. M. B. L. directors' meeting last night that the Cotton Palace guarantee fund was expected to be completed in two days. There will be another luncheon of the teams today at the Y. M. B. L. headquarters.

At yesterday's luncheon territories were assigned to the workers, in which to raise the necessary $15,000 guarantee fund. The meeting was one of enthusiasm, and if it is at all contagious there is not a doubt that the money will be subscribed in the three days that were put aside for the purpose. Mr. Hoffmann said that the committee in a few hours in the morning had secured signed notes for the sum of $5000, no trouble having been scented so far in the money-hunt. Many of the business men, he said, were willing and anxious to sign for their part of the guarantee, as they did last year.

His was a speech of "pep," and he advised and encouraged the members of the teams to do their utmost and overcome the problems of the work. Immediately after the work the teams went to work in earnest to make a short and successful campaign.

The personnel of the teams is as follows:

Team No. 1—John Wyche, chairman; C. B. McCollum, W. J. Geisler, Davis Stribling.

Team No. 5—John Hopkins, chairman; Sem Nix, R. W. Woolridge.

Territories assigned to the various teams are as follows:

Team No. 2—North of Columbus street, west of Ninth and south of Jackson street.

Team No. 3—South side of Austin avenue from Fourth to Seventh, as far as Jackson street.

Team No. 4—North side of Austin avenue, from Fourth to Seventh, as for as and including Columbus street and the court house.

Team No. 5—All territory west of Seventh to Ninth street and between Washington and Jackson streets.

Team No. 6—East of Fourth street and East Waco.

Immediately after all team captains received their budgets they started out with their men to begin active work. Everybody anticipated good results and all were bouyed up with the bright prospects for a successful and quick campaign.

S. W. Slayden Said to Be Near Death in Washington, D. C.

Information to the effect that S. W. Slayden, formerly of Waco, and well known to all the older residents here, is dangerously ill in Washington, D. C., and not expected to live more than a few days, was contained in letters received in Waco yesterday by friends of Mr. Slayden.

Mr. Slayden has been away from Waco for about fifteen years, and after leaving here spent a while in Denver, Colo., going then to New York and Washington. He has been sick for the past three months, but his illness recently grew so much more pronounced that all hopes of his getting well have been given up, and it was thought the end was near when the letters referred to were written.

It will be with deep regret that friends of Mr. Slayden in Waco learn of his condition. He was one of the founders of the Slayden-Kirksey woolen mills in Waco, the first president of the original Cotton Palace, and was always prominently identified with the progress and development of the city while he lived here.

Has Faith in Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nebr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gallstones with the first bottle. My skin is clear now, and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Waco they can be obtained at W. B. Morrison's Drug Co.

The park spot has been pretty for several years, but is looking better than ever.

Services at the Edgefield meeting were again very interesting last night. Rev. L. L. Evans is continuing his strong preaching, and the results are satisfactory. He stated further that the examinations for railway clerk, departmental clerk or bookkeeper would not be held until 1917 unless the needs of the service increased.

Lightning Destroys W. D. Fagan Home

Lightning set fire to the six-room residence of Willoughby D. Fagan, 2605 Grim avenue, and resulted in a practical loss of the building and some of the furnishings during the electric storm at 9:30 last night. No one was injured. The house was valued at $2200, partially covered by insurance. Much of the furniture was saved. A shower falling during the fire prevented any spreading through falling sparks. Mr. Fagan is a city carrier of The News.

Telephone service also suffered from the effects of the electrical disturbance last night.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug-store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big black heads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions of the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

DAILY SHORT STORY.

A Quitter.

By HENRY D. MOREHOUSE.

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Well, if you say you can't there isn't any use of talking any more about it. The shape the work is in now, I don't suppose you would mind if I left tonight, would you?"

"Why, no, Joe; if you wish to quit tonight, it's all right. You can arrange to go any time you like. But I'm sorry. I'm sorry to lose you and I'm sorry I can't pay you more money, but I've told you how things stand. Have you made any plans?"

"No; none whatever."

"Well, if you ever want to come back to work for me I'd be glad to have you. You're a good man and I think you are worth more than I would be able to pay you here. I wish you luck."

"Thanks," said Joe. "I'll not forget what you've said."

The men shook hands and Joe left the office.

He bought an evening paper and climbed the stairs of the elevated. Seated in the train, he began to look through the "Help Wanted" columns, then turned back a page or two and listlessly began to read a short story. It was the story of a man of 45, tired of the city and broke, who had left town one day, and after traveling many miles had hired out as a farmhand, and in a short time rented a farm, married, made money and learned to despise the city and all its works in the happiness and contentment of the life he was living.

Joe folded the paper and looked about him in the train.

What a weary looking throng surrounded him, packed as closely as they could sit or stand! It was the same sort of crowd he had traveled with always, but he looked at it with a new interest, and what he saw gave him an idea, hazy, indefinite, but the more he thought of it the more it grew to have substance in his mind.

* * * *

The bell rang and Marion ran to the door, fastening a cuff button in a fresh waist as she went. Marion was a stenographer downtown, working for a boss who suited his convenience about dictating his letters, so quite often, as happened tonight, she was late reaching home and had barely time to finish a cold dinner after the rest of the family and hastily change her dress.

Joe had telephoned her a few days before that he wanted to see her that evening. This was nothing unusual, for he had been coming to see her once or twice a week for a long time, but this time he had said he had something important to tell her.

Although he never had said so, Marion thought she had a pretty clear idea of what his feelings were toward her. Any woman can tell that about a man.

Instead of Joe at the door, as she expected, she met a messenger boy, who handed her a note. Opening it in the hall she read:

"Dear Marion: I decided a few moments ago not to come to see you, but thought I would rather write. I am going to chuck it—leaving town tonight at eleven. I haven't any clear notion of where I am going or what I am going to do. I only know for certain that I must get away. I have had hopes for many months—hopes of which I dare not tell—but it isn't any use. I've worked three years on this job and I'm not getting anywhere. I hardly make enough to support myself, and when I asked the boss for a raise he wanted to know why he should pay me more when he could get any number of men to work for what I get. Besides, he said, the business wouldn't warrant it. Several weeks ago, a distant relative died and I found I had been left an income of just one dallar a day. I resigned my position yesterday and I am taking a train for some place in the woods up north. I wanted to say goodbye to you, but I will let this be my goodbye.

JOE."

Marion sat a long time with the letter in her lap beneath her folded hands. Inured to disappointment as she was through the many that had come into her life, she felt this to be the hardest she had ever known. She had not known until now how much she cared or what hopes and dreams had been hers for many months. Joe evidently considered himself a failure—a quitter—and was willing to acknowledge it even to her. His goodbye he seemed to mean should be final—expressing no wish to see or hear from her again.

Weary from her day in the office and from its disappointing ending, she sought her bed.

* * * *

Joe pushed up the shade in his berth in the early morning light and looked out on a world of white. Deep forests lined the track and the trees speeding by were covered with a wet snow that gave them the appearance of great white umbrellas. As he lay in his berth watching the moving landscape, he heard the porter say through the curtain: "Your station's next, sah. Due in forty minutes."

When Joe had purchased his ticket the night before he had told the agent he wished to go to some small place up in the woods, he did not care where. He got into his clothes and prepared to leave the train.

After a breakfast in the one hotel in the place, he learned from the landlord of a cabin in the woods about seven miles from the town that could be bought or rented. The owner lived in the town and Joe rented the place without bothering to look at it and hired a man to drive him out to it.

He found a good house on the shore of a small lake and surrounded by great trees, the same big trees that seemed to be everywhere in this beautiful country. The house was partly furnished and he had stocked himself with necessary supplies before leaving the village. He spent the rest of the day making himself comfortable, and did not leave the cabin, as a cold sleet storm had set in.

The next morning, he started out to look over the place and found it as the owner had represented. There were about thirty acres of clear land back in the woods and the whole farm looked so good he decided to try and buy it and stay there.

That night, as he sat by his fire in the cabin, he wrote a letter to Marion. He began by telling her that when he left her he never expected to see her again unless he felt he had made himself worthy enough to ask her to be his wife, and he was too discouraged at the time ever to hope for that. But now, he wrote, he believed he saw a chance here if she would come and help him. He pictured the life they might live together there and asked her if she could give up her home in the city, her friends and her work and come to him.

Marion stepped off the car on a cold, murky night and walked the long block to her home. She was more tired than usual, for it had been a trying day and there had been many letters to write long after everybody had left the office. She found a letter at her plate on the the table and she read it through twice. Then she quickly left the table, returned to her room and wrote to Joe: "Come and get me."

OUR INTANGIBLE PARADOX.

The International and Great Northern railway will dispute by legal proceedings the effort of the state authorities to assess its so-called "intangible" values on the ground that it is insolvent and in the hands of a receiver, and hence has no intangible value. The contention appears to be sound upon its face, and the circumstance illustrates the need for an amendment of the taxing clauses of the constitution.

The intangible tax law was, in fact, framed to evade the provisions of the constitution which were adapted to conditions as they existed forty years ago, and are wholly out of joint with modern conditions. This law attempts to tax the difference between the value of the physical asset and the good will of a business by declaring arbitrarily a valuation upon what is called the intangible value. There is no such thing. A factory may make $100,000 one year and lose $50,000 the next. Its physical assets may be worth $200,000. Under this law the tax assessor is expected to list something else than these physical properties, which he will classify as "intangibles." The scheme really aims at the earning capacity of the plant, but this cannot be lawfully taxed under the constitution. Yet it is clear that a factory losing $50,000 in one year has no intangible value, and it is equally clear that a valuation of intangibles based on one year's earnings is wholly artificial and unjust.

The lesson is that the state needs a new constitution which is built for 1916 instead of for 1875.

Any special assessment levied upon a business should be measured by its ability to pay, rather than by the volume of its nominal assets. A tax upon net earnings is the only equitable tax of that sort.

REPUBLICANS ATTEMPT THE IMPOSSIBLE.

The problem of the republicans at Chicago is to hitch together elements that do not think together. Roosevelt's following is, in the main, further away from the following of Barnes and Penrose than it is from the democratic party. When it headed toward democracy four years ago, it got off at a half-way station labeled "Progressive."

Having tasted political freedom, the rank and file of the "progressives" can not be won back by mere declarations of unity and by sops thrown to their leaders. Roosevelt has set the example of successful revolt, and it is an easier job to conciliate Roosevelt than to win back all of the millions who learned to vote as they please. Many of them are pleased with Wilson, and will vote for him, without regard to what either wing of the republican party may do.

It may be regarded as already settled that the regulars at Chicago will not nominate Roosevelt, and that they will nominate a colorless candidate. It is equally certain that the Roosevelt element will not cordially support the Chicago nominee, although it may give him a perfunctory endorsement. The burning hope to reach the pie counter will win acquiescence from many patriots whose chief purpose is to plant their feet in the trough, but the rank and file will have no such aspiration, and they will not rally with enthusiasm around a banner which they have vigorously fought for four years.

Georgia will ship only 3,500 cars of peaches this year. The Georgia cracker has too much to do in a campaign year looking after politics to give much attention to the cultivation of either peaches or peanuts.

Waco should get the democratic state nominating convention. The state committee will meet at Dallas June 12th and select the location.

Six months ago J. W. Falvella, city editor of the Laredo Times, received an inquiry regarding the soil of Webb county from a Miss Carrie Vera Rolleris of Summerville, Mass. He replied in such glowing terms of praise that Miss Rolleris asked for a sample of the soil. This was sent by Mr. Falvella, and as an evidence of its miraculous powers, Miss Rolleris has decided to make her home in Laredo.

MARLIN SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS

STUDENTS' CANNING FACTORY EXPERIENCES BIG RUSH OF BUSINESS.

Box Being Prepared for Lightguards. Labor Scarce at Marlin.

Marlin, June 6.—At the regular meeting of the Marlin school board last night, A. G. Bell was elected teacher of English in the high school, to fill the vacancy caused by the first teacher elected failing to accept. Mr. Bell is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has had five years' experience in this line of work.

During the session Monday night the faculty for the negro schools was elected, all being re-elected except one.

The venture of two high school students of the agricultural class to start a canning factory business during the summer, using an outfit similar to that used for demonstration purposes in the high school, proved so successful that the young company, Phills & Glass, have already run out of cans and have been compelled to refuse work pending the receipt of a new shipment of tin cans. The product canned to date consists principally of beans.

The Wells Fargo Express company has offered to transport free to the camp at Mercedes a box the mothers and families of the members of the B. C. Clark Lightguards, encamped there, are preparing to ship Thursday. The box is being prepared at Mrs. E. P. Hutchings' and all who have anything to send are requested to have their packages on hand by Thursday noon. Herbert Cooley left last night for Mercedes to re-join his company after a furlough of ten days spent with home folks.

The cattle dipping vat recently completed on the Ernest Boyles place is being kept busy, the first lot dipped being eighty-three head by J. A. Kirkpatrick of Reagan, Monday, and 100 by Ernest Fannin following today. County Agricultural Agent Chaney was on hand both times, testing the dipping solution to see it was of the proper strength to kill the ticks.

Labor is so scarce in this section that J. O. Seeber, who has the contract to tear down the old rock dam bridge, had a hard time picking up two men at $1.50 a day to work on the job. The negroes are all chopping cotton and getting that price; and in many cases, it is reported, their board in addition.

Austin, Tex., June 6.—The railroad commission today announced an entirely new tariff on general class rates abolished the Galveston differential in all class rates, superseding tariff of class rates number three. Galveston is now placed on a straight mileage basis in every rate tariff. The decision today practically completes the ruling of the commission in the request for advanced rates. The cotton tariff was not disposed of at this time.

The new rates become effective June 26 and increases the old scale 10 per cent on all classes except fourth class, which is increased 5 per cent. Maximum distance is increased from 245 to 255 miles. Common point and differential territories remain practically the same. Changes were announced in the tariff on sugar and molasses, fruits, vegetables and melons, and empty barrels and kegs.

Guardsmen Fail to Appear for Court Martial

San Antonio, Tex., June 6.—The absence of all the accused caused a postponement today of the trial by court martial of those members of the Texas militia who failed to present themselves for muster in the federal service. Under the presidency of Colonel Edward A. Millar of the Third field artillery, and with Major Blanton Winship as judge advocate, the court was ready for organization today, but the actual trial can not take place until the recalcitrant guardsmen are located and brought here. The original number of those who failed to respond has been greatly reduced from 116 by those who straggled in from time to time and signed the muster roll.

COTTON PALACE GUARANTEE ALMOST SECURED ALREADY

W. H. Hoffmann reported at the Y. M. B. L. directors' meeting last night that the Cotton Palace guarantee fund was expected to be completed in two days. There will be another luncheon of the teams today at the Y. M. B. L. headquarters.

At yesterday's luncheon territories were assigned to the workers, in which to raise the necessary $15,000 guarantee fund. The meeting was one of enthusiasm, and if it is at all contagious there is not a doubt that the money will be subscribed in the three days that were put aside for the purpose. Mr. Hoffmann said that the committee in a few hours in the morning had secured signed notes for the sum of $5,000, no trouble having been scented so far in the money-hunt. Many of the business men, he said, were willing and anxious to sign for their part of the guarantee, as they did last year.

His was a speech of "pep," and he advised and encouraged the members of the teams to do their utmost and overcome the problems of the work. Immediately after the work the teams went to work in earnest to make a short and successful campaign.

The personnel of the teams is as follows:

Team No. 1—John Wyche, chairman; C. B. McCollum, W. J. Geisler, Davis Stribling.

Team No. 2—R. J. Potts, chairman; C. H. Cox, E. F. Drake.

Team No. 3—E. A. Miller, chairman; J. W. Carlin, L. E. Baine, H. A. Klein.

Team No. 4—R. E. L. Montgomery, chairman; J. G. Taylor, Dr. C. P. Schenck, Mayor John Dollins.

Team No. 5—John Hopkins, chairman; Sem Nix, R. W. Woolridge.

S. W. Slayden Said to Be Near Death in Washington, D. C.

Information to the effect that S. W. Slayden, formerly of Waco, and well known to all the older residents here, is dangerously ill in Washington, D. C., and not expected to live more than a few days, was contained in letters received in Waco yesterday by friends of Mr. Slayden.

Mr. Slayden has been away from Waco for about fifteen years, and after leaving here spent a while in Denver, Colo., going then to New York and Washington. He has been sick for the past three months, but his illness recently grew so much more pronounced that all hopes of his getting well have been given up, and it was thought the end was near when the letters referred to were written.

It will be with deep regret that friends of Mr. Slayden in Waco learn of his condition. He was one of the founders of the Slayden-Kirksey woolen mills in Waco, the first president of the original Cotton Palace, and was always prominently identified with the progress and development of the city while he lived here.

Has Faith in Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nebr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gallstones with the first bottle. My skin is clear now, and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Waco they can be obtained at W. B. Morrison's Drug Co.

The park spot has been pretty for several years, but is looking better than ever.

Services at the Edgefield meeting were again very interesting last night. Rev. L. L. Evans is continuing his strong preaching, and the results are satisfactory. He stated further that the examinations for railway clerk, departmental clerk or bookkeeper would not be held until 1917 unless the needs of the service increased.

Lightning Destroys W. D. Fagan Home

Lightning set fire to the six-room residence of Willoughby D. Fagan, 2605 Grim avenue, and resulted in a practical loss of the building and some of the furnishings during the electric storm at 9:30 last night. No one was injured. The house was valued at $2200, partially covered by insurance. Much of the furniture was saved. A shower falling during the fire prevented any spreading through falling sparks. Mr. Fagan is a city carrier of The News.

Telephone service also suffered from the effects of the electrical disturbance last night.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big black heads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions of the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

DAILY SHORT STORY.

A Quitter.

By HENRY D. MOREHOUSE.

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Well, if you say you can't there isn't any use of talking any more about it. The shape the work is in now, I don't suppose you would mind if I left tonight, would you?"

"Why, no, Joe; if you wish to quit tonight, it's all right. You can arrange to go any time you like. But I'm sorry. I'm sorry to lose you and I'm sorry I can't pay you more money, but I've told you how things stand. Have you made any plans?"

"No; none whatever."

"Well, if you ever want to come back to work for me I'd be glad to have you. You're a good man and I think you are worth more than I would be able to pay you here. I wish you luck."

"Thanks," said Joe. "I'll not forget what you've said."

The men shook hands and Joe left the office.

He bought an evening paper and climbed the stairs of the elevated. Seated in the train, he began to look through the "Help Wanted" columns, then turned back a page or two and listlessly began to read a short story. It was the story of a man of 45, tired of the city and broke, who had left town one day, and after traveling many miles had hired out as a farmhand, and in a short time rented a farm, married, made money and learned to despise the city and all its works in the happiness and contentment of the life he was living.

Joe folded the paper and looked about him in the train.

What a weary looking throng surrounded him, packed as closely as they could sit or stand! It was the same sort of crowd he had traveled with always, but he looked at it with a new interest, and what he saw gave him an idea, hazy, indefinite, but the more he thought of it the more it grew to have substance in his mind.

* * * *

The bell rang and Marion ran to the door, fastening a cuff button in a fresh waist as she went. Marion was a stenographer downtown, working for a boss who suited his convenience about dictating his letters, so quite often, as happened tonight, she was late reaching home and had barely time to finish a cold dinner after the rest of the family and hastily change her dress.

Joe had telephoned her a few days before that he wanted to see her that evening. This was nothing unusual, for he had been coming to see her once or twice a week for a long time, but this time he had said he had something important to tell her.

Although he never had said so, Marion thought she had a pretty clear idea of what his feelings were toward her. Any woman can tell that about a man.

Instead of Joe at the door, as she expected, she met a messenger boy, who handed her a note. Opening it in the hall she read:

"Dear Marion: I decided a few moments ago not to come to see you, but thought I would rather write. I am going to chuck it—leaving town tonight at eleven. I haven't any clear notion of where I am going or what I am going to do. I only know for certain that I must get away. I have had hopes for many months—hopes of which I dare not tell—but it isn't any use. I've worked three years on this job and I'm not getting anywhere. I hardly make enough to support myself, and when I asked the boss for a raise he wanted to know why he should pay me more when he could get any number of men to work for what I get. Besides, he said, the business wouldn't warrant it. Several weeks ago, a distant relative died and I found I had been left an income of just one dollar a day. I resigned my position yesterday and I am taking a train for some place in the woods up north. I wanted to say goodbye to you, but I will let this be my goodbye. JOE."

Marion sat a long time with the letter in her lap beneath her folded hands. Inured to disappointment as she was through the many that had come into her life, she felt this to be the hardest she had ever known. She had not known until now how much she cared or what hopes and dreams had been hers for many months. Joe evidently considered himself a failure—a quitter—and was willing to acknowledge it even to her. His goodbye he seemed to mean should be final—expressing no wish to see or hear from her again.

Weary from her day in the office and from its disappointing ending, she sought her bed.

* * * *

Joe pushed up the shade in his berth in the early morning light and looked out on a world of white. Deep forests lined the track and the trees speeding by were covered with a wet snow that gave them the appearance of great white umbrellas. As he lay in his berth watching the moving landscape, he heard the porter say through the curtain: "Your station's next, sah. Due in forty minutes."

When Joe had purchased his ticket the night before he had told the agent he wished to go to some small place up in the woods, he did not care where. He got into his clothes and prepared to leave the train.

After a breakfast in the one hotel in the place, he learned from the landlord of a cabin in the woods about seven miles from the town that could be bought or rented. The owner lived in the town and Joe rented the place without bothering to look at it and hired a man to drive him out to it.

He found a good house on the shore of a small lake and surrounded by great trees, the same big trees that seemed to be everywhere in this beautiful country. The house was partly furnished and he had stocked himself with necessary supplies before leaving the village. He spent the rest of the day making himself comfortable, and did not leave the cabin, as a cold sleet storm had set in.

The next morning, he started out to look over the place and found it as the owner had represented. There were about thirty acres of clear land back in the woods and the whole farm looked so good he decided to try and buy it and stay there.

That night, as he sat by his fire in the cabin, he wrote a letter to Marion. He began by telling her that when he left her he never expected to see her again unless he felt he had made himself worthy enough to ask her to be his wife, and he was too discouraged at the time ever to hope for that. But now, he wrote, he believed he saw a chance here if she would come and help him. He pictured the life they might live together there and asked her if she could give up her home in the city, her friends and her work and come to him.

Marion stepped off the car on a cold, murky night and walked the long block to her home. She was more tired than usual, for it had been a trying day and there had been many letters to write long after everybody had left the office. She found a letter at her plate on the the table and she read it through twice. Then she quickly left the table, returned to her room and wrote to Joe: "Come and get me."

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through regeneration, reconstruction powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken, down cells and tissues of your body. You can readily picture what result this amazing transformation should produce as with increased weight the cheeks will fill out, hollows about neck, shoulders and bust disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Powers-Kelly Drug Co. and other leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

NOTE—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc. have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain in weight is desired.

Woman Hath Hardly Seen These Cats

Old maids are accredited with having a peculiar fondness for cats, and the felines have popularly been supposed to reciprocate the feeling, but there are two cats in Waco which are notable exceptions to the rule.

These two cats are the property of a business firm here, and were born and raised up to their present age in a bar room; in fact, they were born under the bar and played on top of it all their young cat lives until a comparatively short time ago, consequently they have seen only men, and it has been the men who have fondled them, stroked their backs and playfully pulled their tails. The cats came to think that men were the only persons inhabiting this sphere, and the first time they saw a woman they cut some queer capers, and the capers have been kept up ever since under similar circumstances.

On the appearance of a woman in the room where they are, they sit up with arched backs, hair turned the wrong way, their tails as big as a stuffed club, eyes green, and the way they spit is something terrifying. But with any man that comes along they make friends right now, lie down peacefully, purr softly and seem to think that the world has grown harmonious and safe once more. The cats are gray and about the same size, being the same age.

BAYLOR ALUMNI HAVE THEIR ANNUAL FEAST

BANQUET OF FORMER STUDENTS IN CAFETERIA IS A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

DEGREES CONFERRED TODAY

Commencement Processional Will Begin at 9:30—Dr. C. B. Williams Is Speaker.

With the walls and tables decorated in the Baylor color scheme, and pennants stringling from the windows, the alumni of Baylor university gathered last evening in Baylor cafeteria to hold their annual banquet. The ceiling of the building works out in fine harmony with the walls in making the colors of the university. The vases on the table were a dark green filled with golden Coryopses, carrying out the scheme most effectively.

The banquet was one of the most enjoyable affairs that has been held in many years, being a gathering of the old students and friends of the institution, who, knowing each other, through reputation and association, made it a congenial meeting, an occasion where old friendships were renewed and new ones begun.

The menu was prepared in the cafeteria, and consisted of the following courses: Salted almonds, olives, celery, Baylor grapefruit cocktail, tenderloin trout, tartar sauce, broiled spring chicken, French peas, cream potatoes, tomato salad, mayonnaise dressing, brick cream, assorted cakes and coffee, cheese, crackers. The courses were served by Baylor students and the general regularity in the service was most convenient to the guests causing everything to go off without the slightest delay.

DR. BROOKS IS BANQUET SPEAKER.

The gayety of the evening was enhanced by the following program:

"It's a Long Way to Tipperary," S. P. Brooks, '93.

Music, Jordan's orchestra.

"Baylor Days," George Winfield Harris, '94.

Soprano solo, Miss Sallie Keith, '15.

Receiving the class of '16, president of the association.

Response, E. D. Guthrie, '16.

"My Little Wahco Maid," J. M. Evans, '09.

"After Ten Years," J. D. Willis, '06.

Soprano solo, Miss Verva Lee Clark, '16.

"Friends of Baylor," Edgar Witt.

Hon. Tom Connally of Marlin was toastmaster for the evening, and with his characteristic originality, he made each number the more pleasant with his unusual introductions.

The soprano solo, by Miss Keith, was one of the special attractions of the banquet. Miss Keith has been heard many times lately in Waco, in some of the best musicales of the season. She was graduated from the department of voice last year, and has for many years been connected with the best musical originations in the city. She was soloist in Hadley's "In Music's Praise," given by the University Chorus Monday night in Carroll chapel.

"My Little Wahco Maid," a song with local setting, composed by Prof. Joseph M. Evans, was rendered by him last night with great effectiveness. Mr. Evans has been long known as one of the best musicians in the south and his popularity among the students and faculty of Baylor has been clearly demonstrated in many instances. Miss Verna Lee Clark of Greenville, one of the graduates in this year's class, also added very materially to the entertainment, by rendering a soprano solo. Miss Clark has a beautiful lyric soprano voice with wide range, and unusual possibilities.

Other music for the evening was furnished by Jordan's orchestra.

There were 200 plates, which number just comfortably filled the cafeteria, though enough room was left for more should the occasion have demanded more space. As a whole it was the most enjoyable banquet that has been held by the alumni of the university for many years.

GRADUATES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS TODAY.

A Timely Warning

ELEVEN well-known automobiles have advanced in price within the last ninety days.

The Maxwell Company has not increased their prices. We do not know what their plans are, but we do know and you know that materials entering into the construction of good automobiles now cost from 20 to 300 per cent more than they did six months ago.

Nothing is to be gained by delay. Much may be lost.

Not only may you lose several dollars in the purchase price, but you are sacrificing the enjoyment, the relaxation, the health-giving properties—everything, in fact, that makes motoring the favorite pastime of the nation.

We urge you to come in and investigate the Maxwell.

Or, we will refer you to any number of Maxwell owners and let them tell you their own story in their own way.

They will tell you what they have told us. That the Maxwell is good-looking—that it is powerful—that it is comfortable—that it is economical—in short, that it is the best investment they ever made. They will tell you more and they will tell you gladly and freely.

That's the way they feel toward us and the Maxwell Car.

Whatever you do, don't put this off. We have a few cars on hand and can take orders for immediate or future delivery—at present prices. If you can't come in today, phone us for a Maxwell demonstration.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath it bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee — Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Strong Interest Is Manifest in Trade Trip to Palestine

Unusual interest is manifest in the trade trip to Palestine and intermediate points on June 15, and indications are that the largest crowd which has yet attended the excursions this year will take in the one to Palestine.

The question of the long-mooted railroad between Waco and Palestine is to be taken up when Palestine is reached, and it is hoped to throw some ginger into the proposition and possibly get it into a somewhat tangible form for real work when times get normal. The speakers from Waco, and doubtless the ones in Palestine, will talk over this railroad project, which has been wanted by both places for two decades at least, and out of a multitude of counselors there should be some suggestions of a wise and helpful character to the project.

News comes that nearly all the places to be visited are taking an interest in the trip, and will extend the hand of welcome to the men composing the party from Waco.

Woman Hath Hardly Seen These Cats

Old maids are accredited with having a peculiar fondness for cats, and the felines have popularly been supposed to reciprocate the feeling, but there are two cats in Waco which are notable exceptions to the rule.

These two cats are the property of a business firm here, and were born and raised up to their present age in a bar room; in fact, they were born under the bar and played on top of it all their young cat lives until a comparatively short time ago, consequently they have seen only men, and it has been the men who have fondled them, stroked their backs and playfully pulled their tails. The cats came to think that men were the only persons inhabiting this sphere, and the first time they saw a woman they cut some queer capers, and the capers have been kept up ever since under similar circumstances.

On the appearance of a woman in the room where they are, they sit up with arched backs, hair turned the wrong way, their tails as big as a stuffed club, eyes green, and the way they spit is something terrifying. But with any man that comes along they make friends right now, lie down peacefully, purr softly and seem to think that the world has grown harmonious and safe once more. The cats are gray and about the same size, being the same age.

BAYLOR ALUMNI HAVE THEIR ANNUAL FEAST

BANQUET OF FORMER STUDENTS IN CAFETERIA IS A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

DEGREES CONFERRED TODAY

Commencement Processional Will Begin at 9:30—Dr. C. B. Williams Is Speaker.

With the walls and tables decorated in the Baylor color scheme, and pennants stringling from the windows, the alumni of Baylor university gathered last evening in Baylor cafeteria to hold their annual banquet. The ceiling of the building works out in fine harmony with the walls in making the colors of the university. The vases on the table were a dark green filled with golden Coryopses, carrying out the scheme most effectively.

The banquet was one of the most enjoyable affairs that has been held in many years, being a gathering of the old students and friends of the institution, who, knowing each other, through reputation and association, made it a congenial meeting, an occasion where old friendships were renewed and new ones begun.

The menu was prepared in the cafeteria, and consisted of the following courses: Salted almonds, olives, celery, Baylor grapefruit cocktail, tenderloin trout, tartar sauce, broiled spring chicken, French peas, cream potatoes, tomato salad, mayonnaise dressing, brick cream, assorted cakes and coffee, cheese, crackers. The courses were served by Baylor students and the general regularity in the service was most convenient to the guests causing everything to go off without the slightest delay.

DR. BROOKS IS BANQUET SPEAKER.

The gayety of the evening was enhanced by the following program:

"It's a Long Way to Tipperary," S. P. Brooks, '93.
Music, Jordan's orchestra.
"Baylor Days," George Winfield Harris, '94.
Soprano solo, Miss Sallie Keith, '15.
Receiving the class of '16, president of the association.
Response, E. D. Guthrie, '16.
"My Little Waheo Maid," J. M. Evans, '09.
"After Ten Years," J. D. Willis, '06.
Soprano solo, Miss Verva Lee Clark, '16.
"Friends of Baylor," Edgar Witt.

Hon. Tom Connally of Marlin was toastmaster for the evening, and with his characteristic originality, he made each number the more pleasant with his unusual introductions.

The soprano solo, by Miss Keith, was one of the special attractions of the banquet. Miss Keith has been heard many times lately in Waco, in some of the best musicales of the season. She was graduated from the department of voice last year, and has for many years been connected with the best musical originations in the city. She was soloist in Hadley's "In Music's Praise," given by the University Chorus Monday night in Carroll chapel.

"My Little Waheo Maid," a song with local setting, composed by Prof. Joseph M. Evans, was rendered by him last night with great effectiveness. Mr. Evans has been long known as one of the best musicians in the south and his popularity among the students and faculty of Baylor has been clearly demonstrated in many instances. Miss Verna Lee Clark of Greenville, one of the graduates in this year's class, also added very materially to the entertainment, by rendering a soprano solo. Miss Clark has a beautiful lyric soprano voice with wide range, and unusual possibilities.

Other music for the evening was furnished by Jordan's orchestra.

There were 200 plates, which number just comfortably filled the cafeteria, though enough room was left for more should the occasion have demanded more space. As a whole it was the most enjoyable banquet that has been held by the alumni of the university for many years.

A Timely Warning

ELEVEN well-known automobiles have advanced in price within the last ninety days.

The Maxwell Company has not increased their prices. We do not know what their plans are, but we do know and you know that materials entering into the construction of good automobiles now cost from 20 to 300 per cent more than they did six months ago.

Nothing is to be gained by delay. Much may be lost.

Not only may you lose several dollars in the purchase price, but you are sacrificing the enjoyment, the relaxation, the health-giving properties—everything, in fact, that makes motoring the favorite pastime of the nation.

We urge you to come in and investigate the Maxwell.

Or, we will refer you to any number of Maxwell owners and let them tell you their own story in their own way.

They will tell you what they have told us. That the Maxwell is good-looking—that it is powerful—that it is comfortable—that it is economical—in short, that it is the best investment they ever made. They will tell you more and they will tell you gladly and freely.

That's the way they feel toward us and the Maxwell Car.

Whatever you do, don't put this off. We have a few cars on hand and can take orders for immediate or future delivery—at present prices. If you can't come in today, phone us for a Maxwell demonstration.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath it bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee — Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Strong Interest Is Manifest in Trade Trip to Palestine

Unusual interest is manifest in the trade trip to Palestine and intermediate points on June 15, and indications are that the largest crowd which has yet attended the excursions this year will take in the one to Palestine.

The question of the long-mooted railroad between Waco and Palestine is to be taken up when Palestine is reached, and it is hoped to throw some ginger into the proposition and possibly get it into a somewhat tangible form for real work when times get normal. The speakers from Waco, and doubtless the ones in Palestine, will talk over this railroad project, which has been wanted by both places for two decades at least, and out of a multitude of counselors there should be some suggestions of a wise and helpful character to the project.

News comes that nearly all the places to be visited are taking an interest in the trip, and will extend the hand of welcome to the men composing the party from Waco.

BRONCS GET TWO HOME RUNS BUT THIS TIME THAT WASN'T ENOUGH.

OGLE BOMBARDED IN EIGHTH

Bittle-Coyle Combination Working Fine and Other Navs Not Napping.

Twelve men went to bat for Waco in the eighth inning of yesterday's game. Seven hits and two errors brought in a net drag of seven runs. The hits included two doubles, a triple that came with three men on base and two long doubles.

Mal started it with a long double to right center. The Navs had been threatening Ogle all afternoon, but didn't seem to have quite enough steam to push a commanding lead across the plate. Mal had been up twice in good places, once with two on and again with three on but failed to deliver.

The Navs went into the eighth inning with the score tied for the third or fourth time. After Mal had doubled Donalds bunted. Ogle made a remarkably fast field of the ball, but his quick throw to third went wide and when Westerzil grabbed for it he collided with Mal and the ball got away. Mal scored and Donalds also was safe. Bittle bunted safely and Coyle's swinging bunt also was not handled and the bases were full with none out. Conwell hit to Westerzil, who booted the ball, allowing Donalds to score and leaving the bases loaded.

Jesse James never looked bigger than he did when he stepped up there and twirled his nobby little stick. Jesse earlier in the game had popped up in just such a spot—three on and none out. But he didn't pop up this time. He hit one of his old-time long drives to right center. The ball came down square on top of the inner fence and elected to drop back inside the lot. A home run was missed by a half inch, but the triple cleaned up the bases. Tanner then hit a long double that scored James. Up to this time the Navs had made six runs and still no one was out. Reilly, who was the only Waco player to get a hit during the game, scored the first out in the inning when he grounded to Dee. Wohlleben scratched an infield hit that scored Tanner. Malmquist, up the second time in the inning, flied out to center, but Donalds hit safe. Bittle tried his second bunt-hit, in the inning, but caught Westerzil coming in and the long inning was over.

BIG INNING DID NOT FURNISH ALL THE THRILLS.

There was much other excitement in the game in addition to the slaughtering inning. In fact, the score see-sawed in a thrilling manner, the Broncs having tied it up with a home run in their half of this same eighth.

Home runs again made the Broncs look like winners. The first of these came in the opening inning and was hit by Jack Love. This drive came with two out and Wotell on base as the result of a single. There was no scratch homer about this wallop. It was a long one and went over the fence far down the field.

After Bittle had flied out in Waco's half of this same inning, Coyle made the first of his four pretty hits, and stole second, but died there. In the second inning for Waco Tanner opened with a hit, and after Reilly had forced him Wohlleben singled, but Mal and Donalds struck out.

Bittle opened the third for Waco with the first of his four clean singles and Coyle shoved him over to second with another. Conwell sent a swinging bunt past Ogle and caught Westerzil covering third, nobody handling the ball, and the bases were full with none out. James popped a little foul to the catcher Tanner fooled in front of the plate and Ogle tried to catch Bittle and missed him, all hands being safe. Reilly popped out to second base, but Wohlleben scratched another infield hit and Coyle came in with the tying score.

With two down in their half of the fourth, the Broncs again took the lead on a scratch single to third by Dunckel and a long double by Dee. Clark also sent a cannonball hit through the box on which Dee tried to score, but Coyle's peg to the plate was perfect and the runner was caught by a wide margin.

With one out in the fourth Bittle hit safe, but failed to pass second. In the fifth, however, Waco tied it up when James opened with a clean single and was sacrificed to second, from where he scored when Love booted Wohlleben's grounder.

Waco again took the lead in the sixth by virtue of the deadly Bittle-Coyle combination. With one down Bittle singled and took third on Coyle's third hit to right. Conwell hit to Love, who fumbled long enough to allow Bittle to score, although Connie was caught at first.

In the eighth with two down Wotell again made a tie possible with a long home-run drive. This blow was the final straw that broke the Navs' patience and when they came in for their half they broke loose in the fattest inning of the season.

Sporting Comment

Broncs again today, 4:30.

Houston pulled Fort Worth back to a game and a half behind Waco.

Smithson only allowed the Gassers four hits—but he walked five of them and lost.

Jakey Atz and his bunch got four hits yesterday. But they didn't win. Tough luck.

Ogle had great control and seemed to enjoy his usual accomplishments. He just "couldn't get the breaks," that's all.

Some pinch hitter is that fellow Welchonce. With the bases full he smashed out a three-bagger, just like Jesse James.

Ty Cobb is gradually increasing his speed. He is hitting steadily and is beginning to steal a base nearly every day.

Lefty Hill took just enough warm-up to put him on edge for today's game. He should have no trouble in swinging the odd game.

Ollie Jost and Cliff Hill spent most of the afternoon in the warming-up ring. At that, when the break came Cap let the Professor take his beating.

Two years ago Jack Warhop was a great pitcher—one of the best in the American league. Wonder what sent him down here?

Dallas is finding little trouble in beating Galveston now. The Pirates should be easy for the Gardnerites if the new pitchers make good.

In the second inning Ogle had Wohlleben ten to nothing. The Kaiser actually fouled at least six or seven in a row. And then he finally made a clean hit.

Only one pennant-contender in the National won. Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, but the Pirates took the Giants, the Cubs slaughtered the Phillies and the Cards beat the Braves.

Them two little fellers out there in the field are sure a powerful team. They hit in pairs all the time—one hit, the other hit—and the nicest little old hits imaginable.

That was a terrific drive of Clark's through the box in the fourth. Dee was on second and got away to a good start when Clark hit. The ball went through the box and Donalds got his hands in front of it, but it never even slowed up.

Cap Leidy was singing some kind of a song that was undoubtedly a sad refrain. This song was well-mixed with the juice of mail-pouch, but as near as could be discerned it ran something like this: "It's a good thing they hit fly balls once in a while, else we'd never get 'em out." Cap was referring to a close decision at the plate. Later the bread cast upon the waters came back, for it looked in the eighth for a while like they never were going to get 'em out, sure enough.

When Norman Coyle gets to be an old fellow about 60 or 84 years old and his grandsons get to telling about how far they hit 'em that day, he can light up the old cob pipe, lean back in his easy chair and recite: "Waal, when I was a young chap on the Waco team in the Texas league along about '16, I had a tolluble good day myself. Yep, a tolluble good day. Made four hits and two runs out of five trips to the plate; made a hair-raisin', tooth-pullin', corn-scrapin' one-handed catch, threw a fast man out at the plate by coming in fast and scooping up a hit that had hand-cuffed the pitcher, stole a base and retrieved a ball off the left-fielders' own fence after he had let it get through him. Yep, had a tolluble good day."

Former Yank Star Among New Men Gardner Signs

Dallas, June 6.—President Gardner of the Dallas club announced today he had signed two new pitchers. One is Jack Warhop, former New York American league twirler, now a free agent on the Pacific coast, the other is Fred Dolan, who has been with the Oakland club.

First Baseman Snedecor, who has been a holdout, has come to terms, Gardner also announced.

The three players will report here the latter part of this week.

BRONCS GET TWO HOME RUNS BUT THIS TIME THAT WASN'T ENOUGH.

OGLE BOMBARDED IN EIGHTH

Bittle-Coyle Combination Working Fine and Other Navs Not Napping.

Twelve men went to bat for Waco in the eighth inning of yesterday's game. Seven hits and two errors brought in a net drag of seven runs. The hits included two doubles, a triple that came with three men on base and two long doubles.

Mal started it with a long double to right center. The Navs had been threatening Ogle all afternoon, but didn't seem to have quite enough steam to push a commanding lead across the plate. Mal had been up twice in good places, once with two on and again with three on but failed to deliver.

The Navs went into the eighth inning with the score tied for the third or fourth time. After Mal had doubled Donalds bunted. Ogle made a remarkably fast field of the ball, but his quick throw to third went wide and when Westerzil grabbed for it he collided with Mal and the ball got away. Mal scored and Donalds also was safe. Bittle bunted safely and Coyle's swinging bunt also was not handled and the bases were full with none out. Conwell hit to Westerzil, who booted the ball, allowing Donalds to score and leaving the bases loaded.

Jesse James never looked bigger than he did when he stepped up there and twirled his nobby little stick. Jesse earlier in the game had popped up in just such a spot—three on and none out. But he didn't pop up this time. He hit one of his old-time long drives to right center. The ball came down square on top of the inner fence and elected to drop back inside the lot. A home run was missed by a half inch, but the triple cleaned up the bases. Tanner then hit a long double that scored James. Up to this time the Navs had made six runs and still no one was out. Reilly, who was the only local not to get a hit during the game, scored the first out in the inning when he grounded to Dee. Wohlleben scratched an infield hit that scored Tanner. Malmquist, up the second time in the inning, filed out to center, but Donalds hit safe. Bittle tried his second bunt-hit, in the inning, but caught Westerzil coming in and the long inning was over.

BIG INNING DID NOT FURNISH ALL THE THRILLS.

There was much other excitement in the game in addition to the slaughtering inning. In fact, the score see-sawed in a thrilling manner, the Bronco having tied it up with a home run in their half of this same eighth.

Home runs again made the Bronco look like winners. The first of these came in the opening inning and was hit by Jack Love. This drive came with two out and Wotell on base as the result of a single. There was no scratch homer about this wallop. It was a long one and went over the fence far down the field.

After Bittle had flied out in Waco's half of this same inning, Coyle made the first of his four pretty hits, and stole second, but died there. In the second inning for Waco Tanner opened with a hit, and after Reilly had forced him Wohlleben singled, but Mal and Donalds struck out.

Bittle opened the third for Waco with the first of his four clean singles and Coyle shoved him over to second with another. Conwell sent a swinging bunt past Ogle and caught Westerzil covering third, nobody handling the ball, and the bases were full with none out. James popped a little foul to the catcher. Tanner foozled in front of the plate and Ogle tried to catch Bittle and missed him, all hands being safe. Reilly popped out to second base, but Wohlleben scratched another infield hit and Coyle came in with the tying score.

With two down in their half of the fourth, the Bronco again took the lead on a scratch single to third by Dunckel and a long double by Dee. Clark also sent a cannonball hit through the box on which Dee tried to score, but Coyle's peg to the plate was perfect and the runner was caught by a wide margin.

With one out in the fourth Bittle hit safe, but failed to pass second. In the fifth, however, Waco tied it up when James opened with a clean single and was sacrificed to second, from where he scored when Love booted Wohlleben's grounder.

Waco again took the lead in the sixth by virtue of the deadly Bittle-Coyle combination. With one down Bittle singled and took third on Coyle's third hit to right. Conwell hit to Love, who fumbled long enough to allow Bittle to score, although Connie was caught at first.

In the eighth with two down Wotell again made a tie possible with a long home-run drive. This blow was the final straw that broke the Navs' patience and when they came in for their half they broke loose in the fattest inning of the season.

Sporting Comment

Bronco again today, 4:30.

Houston pulled Fort Worth back to a game and a half behind Waco.

Smithson only allowed the Gassers four hits—but he walked five of them and lost.

Jakey Atz and his bunch got four hits yesterday. But they didn't win. Tough luck.

Ogle had great control and seemed to enjoy his usual accomplishments. He just "couldn't get the breaks," that's all.

Some pinch hitter is that fellow Welchonce. With the bases full he smashed out a three-bagger, just like Jesse James.

Ty Cobb is gradually increasing his speed. He is hitting steadily and is beginning to steal a base nearly every day.

Lefty Hill took just enough warm-up to put him on edge for today's game. He should have no trouble in swinging the odd game.

Ollie Jost and Cliff Hill spent most of the afternoon in the warming-up ring. At that, when the break came Cap let the Professor take his beating.

Two years ago Jack Warhop was a great pitcher—one of the best in the American league. Wonder what sent him down here?

Dallas is finding little trouble in beating Galveston now. The Pirates should be easy for the Gardnerites if the new pitchers make good.

In the second inning Ogle had Wohlleben ten to nothing. The Kaiser actually fouled at least six or seven in a row. And then he finally made a clean hit.

Only one pennant-contender in the National won. Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, but the Pirates took the Giants, the Cubs slaughtered the Phillies and the Cards beat the Braves.

Them two little fellers out there in the field are sure a powerful team. They hit in pairs all the time—one hit, the other hit—and the nicest little old hits imaginable.

That was a terrific drive of Clark's through the box in the fourth. Dee was on second and got away to a good start when Clark hit. The ball went through the box and Donalds got his hands in front of it, but it never even slowed up.

Cap Leidy was singing some kind of a song that was undoubtedly a sad refrain. The song was well-mixed with the juice of mail-pouch, but near as could be discerned it ran something like this: "It's a good thing they hit 'fly balls once in a while, else we'd never get 'em out." Cap was referring to a close decision at the plate. Later the bread cast upon the waters came back, for it looked in the eighth for a while like they never were going to get 'em out, sure enough.

When Norman Coyle gets to be an old fellow about 60 or 84 years old and his grandsons get to telling about how far they hit 'em that day, he can light up the old cob pipe, lean back in his easy chair and recite: "Waal, when I was a young chap on the Waco team in the Texas league along about '16, I had a tolluole good day myself. Yep, a tolluble good day. Made four hits and two runs out of five trips to the plate; made a hair-raisin', tooth-pullin', corn-scrapin' one-handed catch, threw a fast man out at the plate by coming in fast and scooping up a hit that had handcuffed the pitcher, stole a base and retrieved a ball off the left-fielders' own fence after he had let it get through him. Yep, had a tolluble good day."

Former Yank Star Among New Men Gardner Signs

Dallas, June 6.—President Gardner of the Dallas club announced today he had signed two new pitchers. One is Jack Warhop, former New York American league twirler, now a free agent on the Pacific coast, the other is Fred Dolan, who has been with the Oakland club.

First Baseman Snedecor, who has been a holdout, has come to terms, Gardner also announced.

The three players will report here the latter part of this week.

MARKETS

COTTON

New York.

New York, June 6.—After a somewhat irregular and unsettled opening, the cotton market became firmer on scattered covering by foreign or local shorts, with October contracts selling up from 12.73 to 12.86 and closing at 12.83. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 9 points.

Liverpool made a relatively steady showing early, but broke several points just before the local opening as though influenced by the reports of Lord Kitchener's death and uncertainty as to the immediate effect of this on English trade seemed to cause some nervousness around the local ring. First prices were 4 points higher to one point lower and the active months sold about 2 to 3 points under last night's closing figures during the first few minutes, with July touching 12.61 and December 12.90.

Houses with English connections in the southwest were considered less favorable and prices soon became steadier. No aggressive or general buying developed but offerings were light and the market showed increased firmness during the afternoon owing to a little further buying for Liverpool account and the comparatively small flowing supply of contracts.

July sold up to 12.72 and December to 13.02, or about 22 to 25 points above the low levels of last week and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, June 6.—The cotton market held steady today at a moderate advance, based chiefly on the buying stimulated on reports of damage by storm over portions of the belt overnight and which, according to some accounts swept some sections bare of vegetation. Late in the session the buying increased on the belief that the weekly weather and crop reports to come from the weather bureau tomorrow would be unfavorable.

Around the opening the market lost 1 to 3 points, but stood at the advance practically throughout the session. In the early trading prices were 3 to 4 points over yesterday's close, and by noon the strongest months were 6 points up. Late in the day the gain was widened to 11 to 13 points and the close was 10 to 13 up net.

The reports of the cruiser Hampshire disaster caused hesitation at the opening and undoubtedly held the market within bounds during the day, but most brokers seemed to think that its effect was much less than might have been expected.

WHEAT

Chicago, June 6.—Wheat prices rose to a material extent today, chiefly as a result of foreign buying of futures here and because of bullish advices about domestic crop conditions. The market closed strong, 2 to 2¼@2¼c net higher with July at $1.05⅝ and September at $1.07⅝. Corn gained 1@1⅛c and oats ¼@⅜c to ⅜c. In provisions the outcome was a setback of 2½@27½c. Theories that the disaster to Lord Kitchener had some bearing on the subject were not backed up by any substantial evidence.

Kansas reports that as a resulqt of damage by Hessian fly the wheat crop in some portions of the state was falling down tended noticeably to spread bullish sentiment.

Unfavorable weather was chiefly responsible for the strength of corn. Besides shipping demand appeared to have improved and rural offerings were small.

Oats were helped by a better call form the seaboard.

Lower prices on hogs weakened provisions.

Futures ranged as follows today:

Wheat—	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.

WACO MARKETS

Oats from the crop of 1915 were seen on the public square yesterday, the tendency seeming to be to sell much more freely than for some time, on account of the fact that it is now evident that the chances for saving the entire crop of 1916 are excellent.

Farmers who were asked yesterday about the price paid, said that the price ranged from 40 to 45 cents per bushel, according to quality of the grain offered. The exceptionally fine weather which has prevailed recently has had the effect of bringing the oats to market which have been stored in barns awaiting the outcome of the harvesting season of 1916.

It is thought that most of the old oats will now be sold.

Scarcely any hay or grain was brought in yesterday and the prices stood unchanged as follows:

Prices Current on Square.

COTTON

New York.

New York, June 6.—After a somewhat irregular and unsettled opening, the cotton market became firmer on scattered covering by foreign or local shorts, with October contracts selling up from 12.73 to 12.86 and closing at 12.83. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 9 points.

Liverpool made a relatively steady showing early, but broke several points just before the local opening as though influenced by the reports of Lord Kitchener's death and uncertainty as to the immediate effect of this on English trade seemed to cause some nervousness around the local ring. First prices were 4 points higher to one point lower and the active months sold about 2 to 3 points under last night's closing figures during the first few minutes, with July touching 12.61 and December 12.90.

Houses with English connections in the southwest were considered less favorable and prices soon became steadier. No aggressive or general buying developed but offerings were light and the market showed increased firmness during the afternoon owing to a little further buying for Liverpool account and the comparatively small flowing supply of contracts.

July sold up to 12.72 and December to 13.02, or about 22 to 25 points above the low levels of last week and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, June 6.—The cotton market held steady today at a moderate advance, based chiefly on the buying stimulated on reports of damage by storm over portions of the belt overnight and which, according to some accounts swept some sections bare of vegetation. Late in the session the buying increased on the belief that the weekly weather and crop reports to come from the weather bureau tomorrow would be unfavorable.

Around the opening the market lost 1 to 3 points, but stood at the advance practically throughout the session. In the early trading prices were 3 to 4 points over yesterday's close, and by noon the strongest months were 6 points up. Late in the day the gain was widened to 11 to 13 points and the close was 10 to 13 up net.

The reports of the cruiser Hampshire disaster caused hesitation at the opening and undoubtedly held the market within bounds during the day, but most brokers seemed to think that its effect was much less than might have been expected.

WHEAT

Chicago, June 6.—Wheat prices rose to a material extent today, chiefly as a result of foreign buying of futures here and because of bullish advices about domestic crop conditions. The market closed strong, 2 to 2¼@2¼c net higher with July at $1.05⅝ and September at $1.07⅝. Corn gained 1@1¼c and oats ¼@⅝c to ⅜c. In provisions the outcome was a setback of 2½@27½c. Theories that the disaster to Lord Kitchener had some bearing on the subject were not backed up by any substantial evidence.

Kansas reports that as a resulqt of damage by Hessian fly the wheat crop in some portions of the state was failing down tended noticeably to spread bullish sentiment.

Unfavorable weather was chiefly responsible for the strength of corn. Besides shipping demand appeared to have improved and rural offerings were small.

Oats were helped by a better call form the seaboard.

Lower prices on hogs weakened provisions.

Futures ranged as follows today:

Wheat—	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.

WACO MARKETS

Oats from the crop of 1915 were seen on the public square yesterday, the tendency seeming to be to sell much more freely than for some time, on account of the fact that it is now evident that the chances for saving the entire crop of 1916 are excellent.

Farmers who were asked yesterday about the price paid, said that the price ranged from 40 to 45 cents per bushel, according to quality of the grain offered. The exceptionally fine weather which has prevailed recently has had the effect of bringing the oats to market which have been stored in barns awaiting the outcome of the harvesting season of 1916.

It is thought that most of the old oats will now be sold.

Scarcely any hay or grain was brought in yesterday and the prices stood unchanged as follows:

Prices Current on Square.

Johnson grass hay, per ton $11; prairie hay, per ton, $10; sorghum, per ton, $11; millet per ton, $12; corn, per bushel, 75c; oats, per bushel, 46c; cotton seed, per ton, $40; alfalfa, 50c per bale.

FERGUSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN SATURDAY AT THE AUDITORIUM

A "Ferguson Special," carrying friends of the governor from Austin and intermediate points will leave the capitol city Saturday morning for the opening campaign address of the governor in the Auditorium, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 p. m. Hon. O. L. Stribling, chairman of the local committee, is looking after arrangements for the address of the governor. The Auditorium is being equipped with electric fans and otherwise being prepared for the comfort of the large crowd that will hear the address.

The special train from Austin will probably carry some 200 enthusiasts of Mr. Ferguson and hundreds of others from Central Texas will swell the crowd into the thousands, probably.

After his address here, Mr. Ferguson will return to Austin and leave on June 12 for the St. Louis convention, as head of the democratic delegation from Texas.

Railroads Will Give Special Rates for Civilian Camp

As a further inducement to join the citizens' military training camp at San Antonio, the Texas passenger agents at a conference, decided to charge for the return from San Antonio only one-fifth of the regular price. This will make the round trip from any point in Texas to San Antonio one and one-fifth of the rate that is ordinarily charged. Those who attend the camp will get a training camp certificate, upon the presentation of which they can purchase their fares for the return trip for 20 per cent of the amount that it cost them to go to San Antonio.

C. P. Link, local recruiting officer for the camp, stated yesterday afternoon that eight more had signed up for the camp since Sunday—in two days. He expects about eighty men from Waco to leave for the camp next Sunday, and said that, had it not been for the mobilizing of the troops by the government, there would have been at least 400 from Waco to attend the training camp.

The physical requirements for entrance to the camp will not be rigid. Practically the only things that will bar entrance will be an aggravated case of flat foot, heart disease, that would prevent a man from marching, or some organic deficiency. If an applicant is unable to undergo the heavy marching that will be connected with the work, he may still attend the camp.

Mr. Link pointed to the increase in attendance at the Plattsburg camp, as evidence of the interest that is being taken in the proposition. Last year's attendance, he said, was 800, whereas this year's enrollment totals 15,000.

The camp opens on the 12th of this month, and will close on the 8th of July. The return limit for the special rate tickets is July 12.

Rosebud Officers Get Wily Negro

Officers came from Rosebud yesterday and got Will Reese, a negro who escaped from there about three years ago and has since evaded the officers.

The negro gave the name of Will Reed here and has been here some time. He was captured here by Detectives Brandon and Craven. The negro ranks as a pretty smooth one.

He was wanted for carrying a pistol, an offense which is now a serious one under the laws of the state, and is said to be wanted in Cleburne on the same charge.

RAILROAD PLANNED TO ENTER WACO IS BEING LAID OUT

It looks as though the railroad chartered at Austin several months ago to run from Gainesville to Weatherford and on to Waco and thence to the Gulf of Mexico, is "coming to life" in earnest, and reliable information from the other end of the line is that preliminary surveys have been run down to Bridgeport and part of the way to Weatherford; contracts for right-of-way and bonuses have been agreed upon as far as Bridgeport, and an agreement looking to the actual beginning of work is booked to be put into contract form in the next few weeks, the first contract carrying the line down to Bridgeport.

From Bridgeport to Weatherford is expected to be the next jump of the line, and preliminary work on the proposition of mapping out the line to be followed from Bridgeport to Weatherford is experted to be initiated within a few weeks.

When the line was chartered at Austin it was shown that the main capitalists were in New York, though Weatherford parties are interested. The road was capitalized at a pretty large amount at the time it was chartered, and it was estimated here at the time by Judge F. M. Maxwell that the men behind had put into it about $15,000, which caused many to think from the beginning that the proposition was one which would go through. It was argued that even men of means would not willingly throw away that amount of money, and the developments at Bridgeport and between there and Gainesville are interesting. They will revive the hope here that there may be something doing in this line before long.

What line of railroad, if any, is behind the project, and other details, are purely speculative, but they afford opportunity for guessing on the part of those who are fond of keeping up with the railroad checkerboard. The country which would be traversed by this line, according to a Waco gentleman who is familiar with much of it, would be excellent, and he thinks that some line which now has an outlet to the gulf from Waco is probably behind the movement to build from Gainesville to Waco, if the line which is materializing from Gainesville to Bridgeport and Weatherford is really the line chartered several months ago—and he thinks that it probably is.

De Luxe Rotary Train Will Carry Delegates to Cincinnati

A very handsome circular or booklet has been issued by the lines of railroad comprising the official route of the Rotarians to the international meeting in Cincinnati, July 16 to 20, and emphasis is laid on the Special De Luxe Rotary train which will carry the Texas delegation and the Louisiana forces to Cincinnati.

Special entertainment is to be provided by Palestine, Little Rock, Memphis and Louisville en route, while a side trip includes Mammoth Cave, Kentucky The railroads comprising the official route are the I. & G. N., St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern, Texas & Pacific. The special train will be in charge of Governor W. H. Richardson, Jr., the train taking those living in the Twelfth district.

Copies of the leaflet may be had at the office of District Passenger Agent J. W. Byars in this city, and it is full of information regarding the trip, the entertainment and many other features.

The chairmen of the "On to Cincinnati" committee are given in the booklet, as follows: Waco, John W. Tabor; Beaumont, Harvey D. Flether; Cleburne, J. H. Hess; Corpus Christi, Jake Doyle; Dallas, W. C. Temple; Denison, H. G. Alexander; El Paso, J. R. Segall; Fort Worth, J. F. Henderson; Galveston, A. L. Perkins; Houston, R. S. Yocum; Port Arthur, C. D. Fortuyn; Palestine, Roy Dunlap; Paris, W. H. P. Anderson; San Antonio, Herbert J. Hays; Shreveport, John B. Yauger; Wichita Falls, John E. Arnold; Austin, J. W. Ezelle; Lake Charles, F. R. Yeatman; New Orleans, William R. Burk.

Texas state committee, transportation, hotel and general arrangements: Governor, W. H. Richardson, Austin; J. W. Ezelle, Austin; Milton L. Morris, Houston; W. C. Temple, Dallas.

The entertainment features which have been provided by Cincinnati are said to exceed anything yet attempted in that line, and the Rotarians and their families will be given the time of their lives.

Many Waco Boys Are Returning From College

A number of the bright and promising young men who are preparing for the duties of life in institutions outside of Waco will be home for the holidays right away, and some of them have already come.

Among the first to arrive was Clarence Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reese of North Fifth street, who has been attending the medical department of the State University at Galveston. This was his first year in Galveston, though he had been two years in Austin at the State University prior to going to Galveston. He made a splendid record at Galveston, as he did at Austin, and is being given a warm welcome here, where he is quite popular.

On June 13 the Agricultural and Mechanical college at College Station will return to Waco several young men who are specializing in that institution. Among these are Henry Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Clayton; Ray Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Stearns, and Thomas Scudder. These young men have acquitted themselves splendidly, and will enjoy their vacation in Waco.

Rex McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McReynolds, graduates from Culver Military academy at Culver, Indiana, J. I. McReynolds going to that place to be present at the exercises.

Jack West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stark West, who has been at school at Castle Heights, Lebanon, Tenn., will spend his vacation in Waco after a studious year, but next year goes to Washington, D. C., to attend school.

Charles H. Brooks, Jr., who has been attending the State University, Austin, taking an electrical engineering course, is also to spend a while at home now before returning to Austin. This is his second year in Austin.

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.

Mexican Arrested for Resisting "Dog Man"

An example of Commissioner Richards' prediction that a failure to get a dog tax would cost the owner of dogs an extra dollar was seen yesterday when a dog belonging to "Old Mex. Jesus," a Mexican on South Third, was seized by the dog catchers.

Jesus resisted the "arrest" of the animal and was arrested himself, for co-operation with the dog in an attempt to escape. Both were rounded up, however, with a cost of an extra dollar to Jesus. He was unwilling to relinquish his pet and paid a dollar rather than see him taken to the pound.

Dr. Brooks Will Speak at Mart Tomorrow

Many Waco ans plan to attend the Brooks' meeting at Mart tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, which will be addressed by Dr. S. P. Brooks himself. Mart was one of the first places in the state to form a club for the promotion of Dr. Brooks' race for the United States senate, and a large gathering of people for miles around is expected. Local friends of Dr. Brooks will leave Thursday afternoon in autos for the meeting.

Travelers Say This Section Wonderfully Blessed by Crops

Bearing the message that central Texas ought to feel that this section has been wonderfully favored by the crop seasons which have prevailed during the past three or four months, and that in fact nearly all parts of Texas are in excellent condition in this respect, save the country around Corpus Christi and to the southwest of there, a traveling man was in Waco yesterday.

This traveling man had just come from the Corpus Christi country and said that the seed which had been planted there the past spring had not germinated and the country was bare of crops over practically its whole extent. Coming northward for about eighty or ninety miles, this condition prevails, he said, but after getting perhaps ninety miles north of Corpus Christi, conditions begin to change, and present a different aspect the further one comes towards Waco. His view is that the larger part of Texas has exceptional chances for a good crop, but that the country around Corpus Christi can only hope for crops of any kind this year by the aid of a late fall and favorable rains between now and that time.

FERGUSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN SATURDAY AT THE AUDITORIUM

A "Ferguson Special," carrying friends of the governor from Austin and intermediate points will leave the capitol city Saturday morning for the opening campaign address of the governor in the Auditorium, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 p. m. Hon. O. L. Stribling, chairman of the local committee, is looking after arrangements for the address of the governor. The Auditorium is being equipped with electric fans and otherwise being prepared for the comfort of the large crowd that will hear the address.

The special train from Austin will probably carry some 200 enthusiasts of Mr. Ferguson and hundreds of others from Central Texas will swell the crowd into the thousands, probably.

After his address here, Mr. Ferguson will return to Austin and leave on June 12 for the St. Louis convention, as head of the democratic delegation from Texas.

Railroads Will Give Special Rates for Civilian Camp

As a further inducement to join the citizens' military training camp at San Antonio, the Texas passenger agents at a conference, decided to charge for the return from San Antonio only one-fifth of the regular price. This will make the round trip from any point in Texas to San Antonio one and one-fifth of the rate that is ordinarily charged. Those who attend the camp will get a training camp certificate, upon the presentation of which they can purchase their fares for the return trip for 20 per cent of the amount that it cost them to go to San Antonio.

C. P. Link, local recruiting officer for the camp, stated yesterday afternoon that eight more had signed up for the camp since Sunday—in two days. He expects about eighty men from Waco to leave for the camp next Sunday, and said that, had it not been for the mobilizing of the troops by the government, there would have been at least 400 from Waco to attend the training camp.

The physical requirements for entrance to the camp will not be rigid. Practically the only things that will bar entrance will be an aggravated case of flat foot, heart disease, that would prevent a man from marching, or some organic deficiency. If an applicant is unable to undergo the heavy marching that will be connected with the work, he may still attend the camp.

Mr. Link pointed to the increase in attendance at the Plattsburg camp, as evidence of the interest that is being taken in the proposition. Last year's attendance, he said, was 800, whereas this year's enrollment totals 15,000.

The camp opens on the 12th of this month, and will close on the 8th of July. The return limit for the special rate tickets is July 12.

Rosebud Officers Get Wily Negro

Officers came from Rosebud yesterday and got Will Reese, a negro who escaped from there about three years ago and has since evaded the officers.

The negro gave the name of Will Reed here and has been here some time. He was captured here by Detctives Brandon and Craven. The negro ranks as a pretty smooth one.

He was wanted for carrying a pistol, an offense which is now a serious one under the laws of the state, and is said to be wanted in Cleburne on the same charge.

RAILROAD PLANNED TO ENTER WACO IS BEING LAID OUT

It looks as though the railroad chartered at Austin several months ago to run from Gainesville to Weatherford and on to Waco and thence to the Gulf of Mexico, is "coming to life" in earnest, and reliable information from the other end of the line is that preliminary surveys have been run down to Bridgeport and part of the way to Weatherford; contracts for right-of-way and bonuses have been agreed upon as far as Bridgeport, and an agreement looking to the actual beginning of work is booked to be put into contract form in the next few weeks, the first contract carrying the line down to Bridgeport.

From Bridgeport to Weatherford is expected to be the next jump of the line, and preliminary work on the proposition of mapping out the line to be followed from Bridgeport to Weatherford is experted to be initiated within a few weeks.

When the line was chartered at Austin it was shown that the main capitalists were in New York, though Weatherford parties are interested. The road was capitalized at a pretty large amount at the time it was chartered, and it was estimated here at the time by Judge F. M. Maxwell that the men behind had put into it about $15,000, which caused many to think from the beginning that the proposition was one which would go through. It was argued that even men of means would not willingly throw away that amount of money, and the developments at Bridgeport and between there and Gainesville are interesting. They will revive the hope here that there may be something doing in this line before long.

What line of railroad, if any, is behind the project, and other details, are purely speculative, but they afford opportunity for guessing on the part of those who are fond of keeping up with the railroad checkerboard. The country which would be traversed by this line, according to a Waco gentleman who is familiar with much of it, would be excellent, and he thinks that some line which now has an outlet to the gulf from Waco is probably behind the movement to build from Gainesville to Waco, if the line which is materializing from Gainesville to Bridgeport and Weatherford is really the line chartered several months ago—and he thinks that it probably is.

Many Waco Boys Are Returning From College

A number of the bright and promising young men who are preparing for the duties of life in institutions outside of Waco will be home for the holidays right away, and some of them have already come.

Among the first to arrive was Clarence Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reese of North Fifth street, who has been attending the medical department of the State University at Galveston. This was his first year in Galveston, though he had been two years in Austin at the State University prior to going to Galveston. He made a splendid record at Galveston, as he did at Austin, and is being given a warm welcome here, where he is quite popular.

On June 13 the Agricultural and Mechanical college at College Station will return to Waco several young men who are specializing in that institution. Among these are Henry Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Clayton; Ray Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Stearns, and Thomas Scudder. These young men have acquitted themselves splendidly, and will enjoy their vacation in Waco.

Rex McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McReynolds, graduates from Culver Military academy at Culver, Indiana, J. I. McReynolds going to that place to be present at the exercises.

Jack West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stark West, who has been at school at Castle Heights, Lebanon, Tenn., will spend his vacation in Waco after a studious year, but next year goes to Washington, D. C., to attend school.

Charles H. Brooks, Jr., who has been attending the State University, Austin, taking an electrical engineering course, is also to spend a while at home now before returning to Austin. This is his second year in Austin.

Our Policy, "The Public Be Pleased"

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips.)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.

Mexican Arrested for Resisting "Dog Man"

An example of Commissioner Richards' prediction that a failure to get a dog tax would cost the owner of dogs an extra dollar was seen yesterday when a dog belonging to "Old Mex. Jesus," a Mexican on South Third, was seized by the dog catchers.

Jesus resisted the "arrest" of the animal and was arrested himself, for co-operation with the dog in an attempt to escape. Both were rounded up, however, with a cost of an extra dollar to Jesus. He was unwilling to relinquish his pet and paid a dollar rather than see him taken to the pound.

Dr. Brooks Will Speak at Mart Tomorrow

Many Wacoans plan to attend the Brooks' meeting at Mart tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, which will be addressed by Dr. S. P. Brooks himself. Mart was one of the first places in the state to form a club for the promotion of Dr. Brooks' race for the United States senate, and a large gathering of people for miles around is expected. Local friends of Dr. Brooks will leave Thursday afternoon in autos for the meeting.

Travelers Say This Section Wonderfully Blessed by Crops

Bearing the message that central Texas ought to feel that this section has been wonderfully favored by the crop seasons which have prevailed during the past three or four months, and that in fact nearly all parts of Texas are in excellent condition in this respect, save the country around Corpus Christi and to the southwest of there, a traveling man was in Waco yesterday.

This traveling man had just come from the Corpus Christi country and said that the seed which had been planted there the past spring had not germinated and the country was bare of crops over practically its whole extent. Coming northward for about eighty or ninety miles, this condition prevails, he said, but after getting perhaps ninety miles north of Corpus Christi, conditions begin to change, and present a different aspect the further one comes towards Waco. His view is that the larger part of Texas has exceptional chances for a good crop, but that the country around Corpus Christi can only hope for crops of any kind this year by the aid of a late fall and favorable rains between now and that time.
